Tax Ruling Still Under Heavy Fire

Critics Blast Measure Designed To Control Expense Account Abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Mrs. John F. Kennedy pay for her own meal at White House dinners honoring foreign dignitaries or is this a legitimate business expense of the President of the United States?

This question was raised Tuesday by a St. Paul, Minn., businessman who challenged tax regulations proposed by the Internal Revenue Service to implement a new law designed to curb expense account abuses.

Testifying at public hearings on the suggested rules, Henry G. Fousard, president of the St. Paul area Chamber of Commerce, argued that wives attending business dinners have as much right to eat on the expense account as does the First Lady and wives of American ambassadors.

President Kennedy and U.S. ambassadors are given special funds to help finance official entertainment.

Wesley M. Chandler, a St. Paul manufacturer of burial vaults, predicted dire results if a new tax law is interpreted as prohibiting expense deductions for the cost of having wives attend business entertainment functions.

"I do not think it was the intention of our lawmakers to create a situation whereby they encouraged a sales representative to go out for the evening with his customer without their wives. This could be an aiding factor to the moral decay of our country," Chandler said.

Other witnesses challenged the detailed record-keeping that would be required by the regulations. They claimed the proposals would impose an impossible burden and discourage business patronage of hotels, restaurants and taverns, with adverse effects on the national economy and federal revenues.

This theme was repeated today by a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM's general counsel, Lambert H. Miller, argued the proposed tax reporting provisions would "encourage a breakdown of the self-assessment tax system and curtail such business expenditures to a point of serious economic impact on many important sectors of the national economy."

Mortimer M. Caplin, IRS commissioner, opened the two days of hearings Tuesday by announcing that some of the record-keeping proposals already have been discarded. He promised reconsideration of others drawing fire from some 60 witnesses who asked to be heard.

Petrillo Ousted As Musicians Labor Leader

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Federation of Musicians local apparently soundly ousted Tuesday for James Caesar Petrillo, colorful nationally known labor leader, ousting him as president of the union—a job he had held for 40 years.

Petrillo, 70, who served 18 years as president of the American Federation of Musicians and was a vice president of the AFL-CIO before retiring in 1958, was defeated in an election of 3,400 members of the Chicago local.

The unofficial count, announced by John Kryszynski, chief judge of election, showed Petrillo lost in his bid for re-election by 186 votes.

The election, with only about one-third of the union's reported eligible members voting, marked the first time since 1933 that Petrillo was opposed for the presidency.

The unofficial vote, Kryszynski said, was 1,608 for Petrillo to 1,794 for Barney Richards.

Richards, 57, headed a group called the "Chicago Musicians for Union Democracy." Richards and his group had claimed Petrillo and his slate had failed to give the local the right kind of representation.

Pilots Reach Safety After Ditching Plane

The plane was ditched when engine trouble developed and it lost power.

Lt. David A. Smitherman of Shreveport, La., the pilot, and co-pilot Lt. Ted Rogers of Jamestown, Ohio, got off the craft before it sank and swam to shore in their life jackets.

Solons Take Look At Meter Problem

Faulty parking meters, loss of revenue from the same and what to do about it consumed a major portion of last night's City Council meeting.

Police Chief Robert Temple, noting that some of the city meters are now 22 years old, requested to take a close look at what should be done in the future. He presented some past financial suggestions which might lead to statistics and offered several suggestions which might lead to a solution.

Chief Temple said the meters are in a poor state of repair and that a gradual decline in parking revenue since 1954 is evident.

He indicated the drop is due to poor conditions and the need for better maintenance. This prompted him to offer these suggestions:

1. Follow a six-year plan of replacing 50 meters per year until the replacement is completed.
2. Overhaul and completely maintain the old meters, including the hiring of a fulltime trained meter man.
3. Replace the current meter man and assign a patrolman for enforcement and complete maintenance.

THE CITY currently has 275 meters. Temple said the majority of them were purchased in 1940 while others were replaced in 1947.

Two representatives from the Dual Meter Co. were present to explain costs and other details if the Council should decide on the purchase of new equipment.

Both spokesmen recommended the use of a twin type meter which

Final plans were being made today by the Pickaway County Medical Society to administer Type II Sabin polio vaccine Sunday at ten "clinics" throughout the city and county.

Local doctors pointed out that those who did not receive Type I vaccine are urged to take Type II this Sunday. Type I, administered to the public here November 4 is available through your family doctors, the medical society stated.

Ten vaccination centers will be open between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. in the all-out effort to rid the county of the crippling disease. The centers are:

Circleville High School, S. Court St. and Atwater Schools, Ashville.

They would replace two singles. They pointed out that better use can be made of available parking space with the double unit.

After a lengthy discussion the solons authorized Chief Temple to draft a sketch of a particular downtown area to better show what a new meter system would look like. Temple said he would have a drawing at the next Council session, along with more details.

Police Theft Probe Pushed In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — More lie detector tests were scheduled today in the investigation of alleged involvement of police officers in a series of West Side thefts.

Ten policemen were implicated by William Marlowe, 40, a veteran of 11 years on the police force, who police said had admitted taking an estimated $3,000 in thefts from places on his beat over the last 18 months.

Two officers took lie detector tests Tuesday. Two more were scheduled to take the tests today, and two have refused to take tests, police officials said. The other four were reported still considering whether to submit to tests with the polygraph machine.

Meanwhile, one of the 10 was reported to have submitted a resignation. Police officials would neither confirm nor deny the report.

All 10 have denied the accusations, according to Safety Director John N. McCormick, who has ordered a full-scale investigation. Chief Frank Story said he would seek a lie test for Marlowe concerning his statement implicating the others.

Marlowe, who resigned, will be charged with burglary and larceny, the chief said.

Type II Oral Polio Vaccine To Be Administered Sunday

Harrison School, Logan Elm High School, Monroe Twp., New Holland, Williamsport, Walnut and Scioto Twp. Schools.

A DONATION of 25 cents will be accepted from persons receiving the vaccine. However, the medical society has pointed out that no one will be refused the vaccine if they do not have the nominal fee.

The Sabin vaccine is administered orally. Two drops of the drug are placed into a small paper cup of distilled water. The liquid is tasteless, doctors inform.

Type II vaccine, as in the case of the first type, have been approved by the local medical societies of Franklin and neighboring counties.

Move To Annex Land Is Under Waiting Period

A City Council move to annex about 103 acres south of Circleville must now undergo a 60-day waiting period, according to Mayor Richard Penn.

Authority to annex the land was given last week by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners. Mayor Penn notified Councilmen of the waiting period during last night's regular session.

At present there is no indication whether Council will accept the land as approved by the Commission. However, the general feeling is that the 103 acres will become a part of the city once Council legislation is initiated.

The city originally sought about 1,200 acres south of the city. Council later approved a request for about half of this amount.

BUT THE Commission was willing to grant only a small portion of the latter request.

The approved area includes General Electric property, about 40 acres within the S. H. Ruggles estate and other smaller plots close to the GE plant.

Cloud of Uncertainty Hangs Over Stevenson's U. N. Future

EDITOR'S NOTE—Suddenly a cloud of uncertainty has passed over Adlai E. Stevenson's future in the Kennedy administration. Some officials believe someone is "out to get Adlai." John M. Hightower, a Pulitzer Prize winner and a veteran AP diplomatic affairs writer, analyzes the situation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of Adlai E. Stevenson as President Kennedy's ambassador to the United Nations rested under a cloud of uncertainty today—a cloud which only Kennedy himself can dispel.

Unless the uncertainty is cleared up soon Stevenson's effectiveness in dealing with other diplomats in New York may be impaired.

His prestige and persuasiveness depend upon the faith foreign envoys place in the President's confidence in Stevenson. That seems, for the moment, to be the central issue the President must now deal with.

Some well-placed officials expect that Stevenson will speak out publicly in support of Stevenson. Associates of the ambassador say privately that the President already has assured him of his full support and that Stevenson is planning to carry on as usual.

Unless Stevenson was convinced of Kennedy's complete backing, one informant said, "he would have resigned already."

In official quarters two other questions are coming into focus: How much tolerance is there at the White House for disagreement in policy making?

Should anonymous but apparently authoritative criticism of a high official be interpreted as evidence that his resignation would be welcomed by the President?

Stevenson's troubles began Sunday with the disclosure in New York of an article in this week's edition of the Saturday Evening Post. The article was written by Charles Bartlett, a reporter for the Chattanooga Times and a very close friend of Kennedy, and by Stewart Alsop, the Washington editor of the magazine who is reputed to have excellent contacts within the administration.

The point of the article which attracted immediate attention was a report that Stevenson had dissented from the general agreement within the executive committee of the National Security Council last October that a naval blockade should be imposed around Cuba to block the flow of

Adlai Claims He Favored Cuba Blockade

NEW YORK (AP)—U. N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said today that he had approved of the naval blockade of Cuba at least three days before the government decided to impose it.

Reiterating his denial that he had opposed the blockade, Stevenson said on the NBC television "Today" show: "I was emphatically in favor of it."

Stevenson previously had denounced as inaccurate a Saturday Evening Post article, co-authored by a close friend of President Kennedy, that portrayed Stevenson as having urged a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

He asserted today the article was "fallacious from beginning to end, in every detail."

Asked if he had been asked to resign his U. N. post, Stevenson replied: "On the contrary."

He did not elaborate. Stevenson said that despite his support of the blockade, he hoped that the time has not come in the United States when it is felt disputes should be settled by war rather than peaceful means.

"If that time comes, the world is doomed," he added.

Stevenson was asked if he expected President Kennedy to come forward in his support.

"I have had no discussion with him about it. I don't know what he is going to do, if anything," Stevenson replied.

He went on to say that President Kennedy "has and will have my views with candor and confidence."

In a statement Monday the White House denied the report and declared that Stevenson was in fact "strongly supported" Kennedy's decision for the blockade.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger also said there was "absolutely no question" but that Stevenson would remain as U. N. ambassador.

Stevenson himself assailed the article as "inaccurate and grossly misrepresenting my views."

The ambassador conferred with the President and it was in that meeting on Monday that he reportedly received the President's personal assurance of support.

There is a strong impression among other officials, however, that someone is "out to get Adlai." These officials seem to have no doubt that Bartlett and Alsop obtained their information on the various opinions expressed in secret meetings of the NSC executive committee from persons the newsmen considered to be fully competent and highly authoritative informants.

DiSalle Asks for Transcript On Now Defunct Liquor Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asked Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy today to go to court to obtain public release of the transcript of testimony before the defunct special liquor grand jury.

DiSalle said he does not intend to ask for a second special grand jury to investigate a legislation of influence peddling in the listing of liquor brands for sale in state monopoly stores.

The governor said the public has a right to know what went on in seven weeks of hearings. He added that the time is too short between now and Jan. 14 when he and McElroy leave office to get the entire case presented to a new grand jury.

"I herewith direct you . . . to cause an action to be brought before an appropriate tribunal in the state of Ohio in an effort to make public the entire transcript of testimony heretofore presented before the special grand jury," DiSalle wrote McElroy.

He indicated belief McElroy will act promptly.

Asked what an "appropriate tribunal" might be, the governor said it could be Common Pleas Court, Court of Appeals or the Ohio Supreme Court.

DiSalle said he knows of no legal bar to the release of the transcript which is estimated to contain about 5,000 pages.

"I believe that not only are we justified on the basis of law, but on the basis of attempting to keep the public informed in a democratic society, to make this information available to them and to avoid any further expenditure of public funds if this should prove to be extravagant and needless.

The grand jury already has cost the state $25,000 with a second $25,000 authorized a few days before the entire investigation was wiped out when the jury foreman's past criminal record came to light.

DiSalle said it would have been possible for him to abandon the inquiry at this point, but he said

Soviet Ban Trap Is Anticipated

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said today Soviet Premier Khrushchev soon may try to trap the West with an unusual unilateral pledge to stop testing nuclear weapons.

Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union appears to have abandoned all pretense at actual negotiations to reach agreement on a nuclear test ban.

The Soviet Union clearly has decided it does not want a test ban at all, Dean said, "but is trying to maneuver the West in every possible way into some sort of un-inspected, uncontrolled moratorium arrangement."

Dean stressed that the West would never again be trapped into the position of September 1961, when the Soviet Union suddenly broke the moratorium on testing.

Pentagon Move May Still Get Heavy Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors held their fire for the most part as the Pentagon unveiled its program designed to get more ready-to-go combat punch into fewer National Guard and Army Reserve units.

An outcry had been predicted by some. It still may come. But Tuesday's announcement by the Defense Department drew only a request by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington that his colleagues withhold approval of the National Guard proposals until after a Pentagon meeting with state adjutants general next Monday.

Rosellini, chairman of the National Governor's Conference, said he personally opposes abolition of National Guard units in his state. He urged other governors to wait until after a special committee of the conference looks into the matter after Monday's meeting.

The shakeup, in the works for eight months or more, will build reserve strength "far greater than anything we have known in the past," Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in announcing it.

The order goes into effect automatically for Army Reserve units. Approval by governors is needed for any changes in the National Guard during peacetime.

In brief, the Pentagon proposes:

Abolishing four Army Reserve and four National Guard divisions plus a net of 731 smaller units it considers out of date.

Placing most of the men from the abolished units into 11 new brigades, new support units, and six high priority National Guard divisions. The last would be an elite first line of Army Reserve forces.

Retaining 17 other National Guard and six Army Reserve combat divisions at 50 per cent strength, and keeping 13 reserve divisions as training units.

The over-all aim: to provide the six National Guard divisions with 11,000 men each and enough equipment, training and support to get them ready for movement to a firing line within eight weeks of a call to active duty. There

Ohio May Lose 13 Company Units Under New Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Defense Department proposals to reorganize the National Guard would mean loss of 13 company-sized units to the Ohio Guard, Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom says.

The adjutant general said the plan calls for eliminating 18 existing units and forming five new but larger units.

Windom said he is opposed to the proposals and that he will go to Washington Monday to discuss them with Defense Department officials. He said he is working on another plan under which none of the existing units would be eliminated.

The Defense Department plan would have little effect on manpower, with possible loss of about 100 men.

Critics Blast Measure Designed To Control Expense Account Abuse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Should Mrs. John F. Kennedy pay for her own meal at White House dinners honoring foreign dignitaries or is this a legitimate business expense of the President of the United States?

This question was raised Tuesday by a St. Paul, Minn., businessman who challenged tax regulations proposed by the Internal Revenue Service to implement a new law designed to curb expense account abuses.

Testifying at public hearings on the suggested rules, Henry G. Fousard, president of the St. Paul area Chamber of Commerce, argued that wives attending business dinners have as much right to eat on the expense account as does the First Lady and wives of American ambassadors.

President Kennedy and U.S. ambassadors are given special funds to help finance official entertainment.

This theme was repeated today by a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors held their fire for the most part as the Pentagon unveiled its program designed to get more ready-to-go combat punch into fewer National Guard and Army Reserve units.

An outcry had been predicted by some. It still may come. But Tuesday's announcement by the Defense Department drew only a request by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington that his colleagues withhold approval of the National Guard proposals until after a Pentagon meeting with state adjutants general next Monday.

Rosellini, chairman of the National Governor's Conference, said he personally opposes abolition of National Guard units in his state. He urged other governors to wait until after a special committee of the conference looks into the matter after Monday's meeting.

The shakeup, in the works for eight months or more, will build reserve strength "far greater than anything we have known in the past," Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in announcing it.

The order goes into effect automatically for Army Reserve units. Approval by governors is needed for any changes in the National Guard during peacetime.

In brief, the Pentagon proposes: Abolishing four Army Reserve and four National Guard divisions plus a net of 731 smaller units it considers out of date.

Placing most of the men from the abolished units into 11 new brigades, new support units, and six high priority National Guard divisions. The last would be an elite first line of Army Reserve forces.

Retaining 17 other National Guard and six Army Reserve combat divisions at 50 per cent strength, and keeping 13 reserve divisions as training units.

The over-all aim: to provide the six National Guard divisions with 11,000 men each and enough equipment, training and support to get them ready for movement to a firing line within eight weeks of a call to active duty. There (Continued on Page 2)

Latin Official At Odds with Government

Argentina Economic Leader To Resign, Others Will Follow

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Economic Minister Alvaro Alsogaray gave in to week-long pressure Tuesday night and tendered his resignation, charging that divisions in the government balked his campaign to hold the line against inflation.

The threatened departure from the government of the controversial 49-year-old economist—along with his entire economic team of 20 senior officials—promised yet another political crisis.

Unconfirmed reports said Rear Adm. Carlos A. Kolungia also had resigned as Navy secretary.

President Jose Maria Guido neither accepted nor rejected the mass resignations immediately. He told Alsogaray he would start a round of consultations—beginning with the military leaders of the government—today.

The war secretary, Lt. Gen. Benjamin Rattenbach, apparently precipitated Alsogaray's decision to quit by stating at a news conference that the economic minister's policies were not adequate to pull Argentina out of its slump.

Alsogaray said the head of the army told him on Monday "other Cabinet ministers are feeling the same way." Alsogaray's austerity policy was always opposed by large business, labor and armed forces groups, but he and his team also have strong connections with certain business, political and military factions.

Opposition mounted last week when Alsogaray, in an effort to balance the budget, boosted the price of gasoline 43 per cent and that of kerosene, widely used for cooking, by 66 per cent. The increases triggered another spiral in essential consumer goods prices.

Alsogaray started his present term as economic minister on April 12. He had held it for a time under President Arturo Frondizi.

He found the economy in chaos. Since then things have worsened. The peso, kept stable for three years under Frondizi at 83 to the dollar, was quoted by some brokers at 154 Tuesday. The cost of living has climbed about 35 per cent.

Ohio May Lose 13 Company Units Under New Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Defense Department proposals to reorganize the National Guard would mean loss of 13 company-sized units to the Ohio Guard, Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom says.

The adjutant general said the plan calls for eliminating 18 existing units and forming five new but larger units.

Windom said he is opposed to the proposals and that he will go to Washington Monday to discuss them with Defense Department officials. He said he is working on another plan under which none of the existing units would be eliminated.

The Defense Department plan would have little effect on manpower, with possible loss of about 100 men.

Judge Contests Defeat

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—William Shank, controversial judge of Montgomery County Court for the Trotwood area, has gone to the County Appeals Court to contest his Nov. 6 election defeat. He claims some voting machines in his district were not working properly.

William McMillan and Robert Nolan won judgeships while the incumbent Shanks lost out. The county bar association and the prosecutor's office have been highly critical of Shanks in recent months for some of his rulings.

School Board Gets 'Policy' Booklet

Printed copies of "School Board Policies" were presented to the Circleville Board of Education Monday night during the regular monthly meeting by Fritz Jacobs, superintendent.

Included in the booklet, prepared by Jacobs in conjunction with the board, are policies concerning the philosophy and duties of the board, powers and duties of the clerk, meetings of the board, administrative organization, administrative departments and divisions, a policy relating to students including entrance age, tuition, attendance, immunization, and promotion, transportation, duties and responsibilities of operational and maintenance personnel and job descriptions of administrative personnel.

A policy regarding the use and rental of school buildings was tentatively adopted by the board during Monday's session subject to revision. The boards standing on this subject is to be recorded in the booklet after full consideration is given to use of school-owned facilities.

Mrs. Forrest Easterday, 427 S. Pickaway St., was employed on a part-time basis for cafeteria work at the Atwater School.

A REPORT was also presented to the board on board-owned band instruments of the music department. The inventory was reviewed and tabled for future reference.

A requisition for several books for the Nicholas Drive library met with board approval and Virgil Cress, business manager, was ordered to purchase the reading material.

In other action taken by the board, approval was granted for local membership in the Ohio School Board Assn. for 1963.

A Course of Study Committee, broken down into high school, eighth grade, seventh grade and elementary divisions has been appointed to develop a graded course of study for the high school and to revise the course of study on the elementary level.

Chairmen of the committees are, high school, Richard Snouffer; Paul Sarchett, eighth grade; J. L. Chilcote, seventh grade; Sophia Smith, grade six; Martha Reid, grade five; Opal Sims, grade four; Elsie Updyke, grade three; Marjorie Houck, grade two; Marcella Kern, grade one; and Nancy Dye, kindergarten.

A Cumulative Record Committee consists of Paul Sarchett, Richard Snouffer, Mary Lamb, and Lucille Scott. The committee has prepared records on each student and will be presented for final approval after they have been printed.

A committee appointed to prepare a philosophy for both the elementary and secondary levels consists of Stanley Spring, Wallace Higgins, Louise Story, Frances Rose, Mary Parks, Donald Metzler. The work is to be completed by March 1, 1963.

J. L. Chilcote was appointed as chairman of a Testing Program Committee.

Ruth Schneider was appointed as chairman of a committee with the objective of preparing a handbook for parents of elementary students. Tentative completion date of the handbook has been set for March 1, 1963.

An elementary Report Card Committee appointed by Jacobs is headed by Mary Johnson with George Mallett as assistant chairman.

Hepatitis May Be Local Health Problem Again

Only 1 Case Reported In County during Current School Year

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state director of health, has announced that infectious hepatitis should again be a major problem for local health departments this year.

Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse, said only one case had been reported in the county during the present school year. However the peak month for the disease is March, she said.

Last year a total of 59 cases, both student and adult, were reported in the county. Thirty-seven of these cases occurred prior to mid-January.

According to the county office, infectious hepatitis is a world wide disease and occurs in cycles of from seven to ten years. This area is still in the high part of the cycle.

RECORDS show that the disease is more prevalent in schools, army camps and institutions where large groups are gathered. Facts also show that for every 10 cases reported there will be four or five not recognized or known because of the mildness of the attack.

Health officials said the virus of infectious hepatitis has not been isolated and there is no known miracle drug or treatment for the disease. They pointed out that the only treatment for contacts is to immunize the immediate family with gamma globulin which gives some immunity for a period of time ranging from six to eight weeks.

According to health spokesmen it would be unwise to try to immunize a whole school or community due to the short supply of gamma globulin.

Mrs. Pickens said that gamma globulin will be available to county residents, either from the county board of health or from their personal physicians.

are 16 regular Army divisions. The shakeup won't affect the over-all size of the reserve, which still isn't up to the 700,000-man goal set by Congress. But higher standards for reservists may make it harder to reach that goal, Pentagon officials said.

The National Guard divisions which the Pentagon proposes abolishing—except for 150-man skeleton headquarters staffs—are the 34th Infantry of Iowa and Nebraska, the 35th of Kansas and Missouri, the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

The reserve divisions ordered broken up are the 79th Infantry of Pennsylvania, the 94th of Massachusetts, the 96th of Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Washington, and Nevada, and the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Two-Dollar Bill Continues To Be Unpopular Greenback

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The $2 bill is 100 years old this year and it is still America's most unpopular greenback.

They're just as good as any other paper currency, of course. Yet, since the first one was issued back in August 1862, people generally have refused to have any great part of them.

Except in New England, and to a lesser extent the West Coast, $2 bills are rarely seen. Of the $90 million outstanding in $2 bills, more than half are in the Boston Federal Reserve District, more than in the 11 other districts combined.

New Yorkers, in particular, shy away from $2 bills. The New York Federal Reserve Bank has not had a shipment of new $2 bills from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving since July 1959, when it received $120,000.

This lack of public confidence is clearly reflected in the annual printing of our nation's currency. Of the 1.6 billion notes rolling off the government's money presses each year, the bulk, or about one billion, are $1 bills.

Next comes the $5 bills, over 250 million of them, and the $10 bills, over 200 million. As for the $2 bills, the demand is so slight that only about $10 million are printed each year. This antipathy to the $2 bill is expensive to the taxpayers.

If it enjoyed a normal popularity, the government would print at least 150 million of them a year, and thus would need to print 300 million fewer of the $1 bills. This would save over $1 million a year.

The government first issued the $2 bill because it was considered the most logical value between the 50 cent piece and the $5 bill. But it never really caught on.

Many versions have been given to explain why the $2 bill is considered unlucky, but the origin seems to have been in the vocabulary of post Civil War gamblers, where two was called the "deuce" — the lowest value in cards — a degenerated word derived from "devil" and meaning bad luck.

Superstitious gamblers and bettors still invariably tear off a corner of any $2 bill they receive in order to take off this curse.

This is supposed to be a counter-magic gesture. The corner is a triangle, symbol of three, a mystic and potent number. The fifth time the $2 bill passes to a superstitious person — that is, with all corners gone — it is usually torn to pieces to remove the "curse" for good.

As far as the U. S. Treasury is concerned, a little bit off the corners does not constitute mutilation, so that there are a great many $2 bills without corners in circulation.

The $2 bill also became a bill of ill repute in its early days when it was supposed to be the price of a vote. After the transaction the bribed voter got rid of it in a hurry lest it be evidence of his dishonesty.

While generally unpopular, the $2 bill did play a role in international intrigue during World War II. The Axis powers were flooding Mexico with United States money looted in Europe. About the only kind of paper currency they didn't have was $2 bills, mainly because there just weren't many around.

So, the U. S. and Mexico agreed that for the duration of the war they would ban all U. S. paper money in Mexico except the $2 bills.

Government agents, charged with curbing counterfeiting, also object to the $2 bill, but not because of superstition. They say it's easy for the funny money men to make a $20 bill out of the $2 paper. Nevertheless, the Treasury Department periodically launches campaigns to encourage the use of this unpopular greenback. But the American public turns a deaf ear to the pleading, and continues to shun $2 bills as though they were infected.

Almost, that is. Superstition notwithstanding, no one refuses to accept a $2 bill.

No Assessment Changes Made On Northridge Sewer Project

City Council last night adopted a resolution accepting an Equalizing Board report on assessments for the Northridge Road Storm project.

The Equalizing Board heard and reviewed all complaints from property owners on the project. However, no changes were made on the tentative assessments as established earlier by an Assessing Board.

Serving on the equalizing panel were Luther Bower, Donald Mason and C. G. Chaffin.

Along the same line of business, Council then proceeded to pass an ordinance to levy the special assessments which will pay for the cost of the Northridge sewer job. Payments may be made in cash within 30 days or in annual installments at the prescribed interest rate.

IN OTHER legislation, the solons passed three money ordinances. They were:

The appropriation of $600 from the general revenue fund for the purchase of gasoline and oil for city police cruisers for the remainder of the year.

The appropriation of $300 from the water rental income to pay fuel and power bills for the city's water pumping department.

Police Investigate Accidental Shooting

Circleville City Police yesterday investigated an accidental shooting on Weldon Ave.

Injured was Norma Jean Hill, 22, wife of Thomas Hill. The Hills told investigating officers Sergeant LeRoy Hawks and Patrolman Richard Anderson that the house was infested with rodents. They said they had placed traps and poison to no avail, and were sitting on the floor shooting rats with a .22 caliber rifle.

Mrs. Hill stood up, accidentally bumping the gun held by her husband, and was shot in the upper arm.

She was treated by Dr. Carlos Alvarez.

OMVI, No License Draws Stiff Fine in Circleville Court

Charles M. Tinsley, 25, Charles-town, W. Va., received fines totaling $300 and was sentenced to six days in the county jail by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb today.

Tinsley was cited by the State Highway patrol for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants and for failure to have an operator's license. He told Judge Lamb that he had been driving for six or seven years without a license.

The judge levied a fine of $150 and costs and sentenced him to three days on each citation with the jail sentences to run consecutively.

Mark Brillhart, 21, Columbus was fined $100 and cost for failure to have an operator's license. He, too, told Judge Lamb that he had been driving six to seven years without a license.

Other municipal court traffic cases included:

Frank A. Mack, 39, Marion; $25

Route 23 Gun Club Burglared

A burglary at the Route 23 Gun Club was reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department late yesterday by the owner, Jack Melvin.

Melvin told Deputy Sheriff George Linder, the investigating officer, that a shot gun valued at $60 and four cases of 12 gauge shotgun shells, valued at $44 per case were taken. Also missing were two rods and reels.

Entry was gained by forcing a window. This marks the second time in recent months that the establishment has been burglarized.

A committee appointed to prepare a philosophy for both the elementary and secondary levels consists of Stanley Spring, Wallace Higgins, Louise Story, Frances Rose, Mary Parks, Donald Metzler. The work is to be completed by March 1, 1963.

J. L. Chilcote was appointed as chairman of a Testing Program Committee.

Ruth Schneider was appointed as chairman of a committee with the objective of preparing a handbook for parents of elementary students. Tentative completion date of the handbook has been set for March 1, 1963.

An elementary Report Card Committee appointed by Jacobs is headed by Mary Johnson with George Mallett as assistant chairman.

Hepatitis May Be Local Health Problem Again

Only 1 Case Reported In County during Current School Year

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state director of health, has announced that infectious hepatitis should again be a major problem for local health departments this year.

Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse, said only one case had been reported in the county during the present school year. However the peak month for the disease is March, she said.

Last year a total of 59 cases, both student and adult, were reported in the county. Thirty-seven of these cases occurred prior to mid-January.

According to the county office, infectious hepatitis is a world wide disease and occurs in cycles of from seven to ten years. This area is still in the high part of the cycle.

RECORDS show that the disease is more prevalent in schools, army camps and institutions where large groups are gathered. Facts also show that for every 10 cases reported there will be four or five not recognized or known because of the mildness of the attack.

Health officials said the virus of infectious hepatitis has not been isolated and there is no known miracle drug or treatment for the disease. They pointed out that the only treatment for contacts is to immunize the immediate family with gamma globulin which gives some immunity for a period of time ranging from six to eight weeks.

According to health spokesmen it would be unwise to try to immunize a whole school or community due to the short supply of gamma globulin.

Mrs. Pickens said that gamma globulin will be available to county residents, either from the county board of health or from their personal physicians.

Pentagon Move

are 16 regular Army divisions. The shakeup won't affect the over-all size of the reserve, which still isn't up to the 700,000-man goal set by Congress. But higher standards for reservists may make it harder to reach that goal, Pentagon officials said.

The National Guard divisions which the Pentagon proposes abolishing—except for 150-man skeleton headquarters staffs—are the 34th Infantry of Iowa and Nebraska, the 35th of Kansas and Missouri, the 43rd of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont and the 51st of Florida and South Carolina.

The reserve divisions ordered broken up are the 79th Infantry of Pennsylvania, the 94th of Massachusetts, the 96th of Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Washington, and Nevada, and the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Cuba Base Dependents Due To Return Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy wives and children evacuated from Guantanamo Bay naval base at the start of the Cuban missile-and-bombers crisis will be permitted to return soon, informed sources say.

About 2,800 wives and children of men stationed at Guantanamo were rushed back to the United States by ship and airplane on Oct. 22, just before President Kennedy announced the naval quarantine of offensive arms shipments to Communist Cuba.

Two-Dollar Bill Continues To Be Unpopular Greenback

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The $2 bill is 100 years old this year and it is still America's most unpopular greenback.

They're just as good as any other paper currency, of course. Yet, since the first one was issued back in August 1862, people generally have refused to have any great part of them.

Except in New England, and to a lesser extent the West Coast, $2 bills are rarely seen. Of the $90 million outstanding in $2 bills, more than half are in the Boston Federal Reserve District, more than in the 11 other districts combined.

New Yorkers, in particular, shy away from $2 bills. The New York Federal Reserve Bank has not had a shipment of new $2 bills from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving since July 1959, when it received $120,000.

This lack of public confidence is clearly reflected in the annual printing of our nation's currency. Of the 1.6 billion notes rolling off the government's money presses each year, the bulk, or about one billion, are $1 bills.

Next come the $5 bills, over 250 million of them, and the $10 bills, over 200 million. As for the $2 bills, the demand is so slight that only about $10 million are printed a year. This antipathy to the $2 bill is expensive to the taxpayers.

If it enjoyed a normal popularity, the government would print at least 150 million of them a year, and thus would need to print 300 million fewer of the $1 bills. This would save over $1 million a year. The government first issued the $2 bill because it was considered the most logical value between the 50 cent piece and the $5 bill. But it never really caught on.

Many versions have been given to explain why the $2 bill is considered unlucky, but the origin seems to have been in the vocabulary of post Civil War gamblers, where two was called the "deuce"—the lowest value in cards—a degenerated word derived from "devil" and meaning bad luck. Superstitious gamblers and bettors still invariably tear off a corner of any $2 bill they receive in order to take off this curse.

This is supposed to be a counter-magic gesture. The corner is a triangle, symbol of three, a mystic and potent number. The fifth time the $2 bill passes to a superstitious person—that is, with all corners gone—it is usually torn to pieces to remove the "curse" for good.

As far as the U. S. Treasury is concerned, a little bit off the corners does not constitute mutilation, so that there are a great many $2 bills without corners in circulation.

The $2 bill also became a bill of ill repute in its early days when it was supposed to be the price of a vote. After the transaction the bribed voter got rid of it in a hurry lest it be evidence of his dishonesty.

While generally unpopular, the $2 bill did play a role in international intrigue during World War II.

The Axis powers were flooding Mexico with United States money looted in Europe. About the only kind of paper currency they didn't have was $2 bills, mainly because there just weren't many around. So, the U. S. and Mexico agreed that for the duration of the war they would ban all U. S. paper money in Mexico except the $2 bills.

Government agents, charged with curbing counterfeiting, also object to the $2 bill, but not because of superstition. They say it's easy for the funny money men to make a $20 bill out of the $2 paper. Nevertheless, the Treasury Department periodically launches campaigns to encourage the use of this unpopular greenback. But the American public turns a deaf ear to the pleading, and continues to shun $2 bills as though they were infected.

Almost, that is. Superstition notwithstanding, no one refuses to accept a $2 bill.

Assailant Crashes Courtroom, Takes Pellet Shots at Hoffa

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A white man wearing a trench coat and waving what appeared to be some type of pellet gun dashed into the federal courtroom today where James R. Hoffa was on trial and fired several times at the Teamsters Union president.

Hoffa was not injured. "I saw the gun," Hoffa said. "I knocked him down."

Hoffa said he saw the tall slender man approaching and that the man was aiming a pellet gun at him.

Son of FDR Faces 2 Traffic Counts Following Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 48, son of the late president, was cited for two traffic violations after a collision at 1:15 a.m. Monday, police reported today.

Capt. Albert Clark said Roosevelt, who operates the Roosevelt Automobile Co. here, was cited for colliding, and operating an automobile with a suspended license.

Names will also be drawn for the January term of the Grand Jury.

No Assessment Changes Made On Northridge Sewer Project

City Council last night adopted a resolution accepting an Equalizing Board report on assessments for the Northridge Road Storm project.

The Equalizing Board heard and reviewed all complaints from property owners on the project. However, no changes were made on the tentative assessments as established earlier by an Assessing Board.

Serving on the equalizing panel were Luther Bower, Donald Mason and C. G. Chalfin.

Along the same line of business, Council then proceeded to pass an ordinance to levy the special assessments which will pay for the cost of the Northridge sewer job. Payments may be made in cash within 30 days or in annual installments at the prescribed interest rate.

IN OTHER legislation, the solons passed three money ordinances. They were:

The appropriation of $600 from the general revenue fund for the purchase of gasoline and oil for city police cruisers for the remainder of the year.

The appropriation of $300 from the water rental income to pay fuel and power bills for the city's water pumping department.

Police Investigate

Accidental Shooting

Injured was Norma Jean Hill, 22, wife of Thomas Hill.

The Hills told investigating officers Sergeant LeRoy Hawks and Patrolman Richard Anderson that the house was infested with rodents. They said they had placed traps and poison to no avail, and were sitting on the floor shooting rats with a .22 caliber rifle.

Mrs. Hill stood up, accidentally bumping the gun held by her husband, and was shot in the upper arm.

She was treated by Dr. Carlos Alvarez.

Nostalgic Aroma

Recently a significant meeting was held in Lincoln, Neb. It was the National Conference on Wheat Utilization Research — a high-sounding name for a gathering of scientists, wheat - grower organization leaders and milling experts to try to find ways of using America's huge surpluses of grain.

Much of the discussion centered on new developments in making paper from wheat, in industrial uses of the crop and in methods to make wheat more appealing for export. But perhaps the most interesting point was that made by Dr. John R. Matchett of the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He emphasized the possibility of expanding the use of bread in this country through flavor and aroma research. The loss of flavor and aroma of home-baked bread has contributed to the decline in per capita bread consumption, he said.

Dr. Matchett reported that government laboratories have made "substantial progress" in determining what is responsible for fresh bread flavor. Success in such efforts, he said, should help expand bread use markedly.

"If we could halt the decline in per capita bread consumption," he said, "the annual increase in population would utilize 8 million additional bushels of wheat each year."

This is a goal toward which important segments of the milling and baking trades should point. The researchers will have the good wishes of everyone — not only for economic reasons but also because of a nostalgic memory of that wonderful aroma and flavor grandmother's home-baked bread had.

The Red Pattern

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who favors a tougher policy toward Soviet Russia, has some new and potent evidence to cite in behalf of his views. And he is presenting it.

In an address to the New York Chamber of Commerce he pointed to the apparent out-come of the Cuban crisis as a further piece in the pattern that has been evolving since World War II.

General Clay's thesis is that Soviet power expands until it meets an opposing force and then withdraws, because the USSR is not prepared to risk armed conflict. That is what happened in western Europe, General Clay says, and now it has happened again in Cuba.

General Clay's words have the force of both evidence and logic behind them. This has been the pattern. Assuming, of course, that the Cuban situation is, in essence, ended, and that the Soviet Union does not respond with a retaliation that upsets the pattern.

Enough To Make Santa Fume

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that make a street corner Santa Claus want to turn in his belt.

"Here's a penny for you, and a penny for each of your dear little elves."

"How come you ask me again, Santa Claus, when I just told you what I wanted in the department store only 10 minutes ago?"

"Oh, dear, are you absolutely sure you don't have change for a quarter? I hate to pass you by without donating something."

"I'm from the City License Department. If you don't have a license, I'll have to call the Black Maria and give you a free ride downtown."

"Oh, Grace, go ahead. I dare you to pull his beard off."

"I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. Let me sniff your breath. If I smell liquor, you'll turn in that uniform this minute."

"Is it true that except during the Christmas season all you Santa Clauses hang out down on the Bowery?"

"Pod'n me, could you direct me to the store that is having a special on fur coats, marked down from $5,000 to $4,499?"

"Sure, I'm sure, it's Uncle Jake. Nobody — not even Santa Claus — ever had a nose as big and red as Uncle Jake's."

"Uncle, Mama said to tell you she didn't care whether or not its against the rules for you to go shopping in your costume. She says that if you don't stop and pick up a couple of pounds of boiling beef on the way home, you won't get any dinner tonight."

"I'm sorry we can't let you use our rest room facilities. This is a high-class establishment. Why don't you try the store across the street?"

"Now, standing out in the cold doesn't bother him. After all, he lives at the north pole, doesn't he?"

"What're you doing going around in a red suit like that? You some kind of a Communist nut, or something?"

"Frankly, in my opinion he's seen a lot more pink elephants in his life than he has reindeer." "Mama, why are you giving money to Santa Claus? I thought he was supposed to bring presents to us."

"His nose was red when I passed him on the way to work this morning. Now it seems to be turning blue." "I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. I know your feet hurt, but smile, man—look jolly. Maybe if you'd sing a chorus of 'Jingle Bells' now and then, it might stir up a little more business."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Protectionism is far from dead—on either side of the Atlantic or Pacific. And Christian A. Herter as the U.S. government's foreign trade czar may have plenty of trouble translating the President's new tariff bargaining powers into the freer trade it envisions.

American manufacturers and unions who see their sales or jobs trimmed or threatened by foreign competition will be heard from, in and out of Congress. And the new law offers various ways of protecting them.

The European Common Market is acclaimed for its striking efforts to lower trade barriers. But its aim is to achieve one big tariff free club—for members only. It plans to maintain at least some tariff barriers against the rest of the world, including U.S. manufacturers and farmers.

And in recent weeks the spirit of keeping these walls fairly high has been reported to be rising.

Britain has been yearning to join the club. But protectionism is far from dead in the United Kingdom either, and certainly is very much alive in the British Commonwealth. Political opposition in Britain to joining the Common Market is growing louder, and is becoming bitter in many of the Commonwealth nations.

Damage to British industry, labor, farmers, and to Commonwealth producers is stressed by the protectionists.

On the Continent there is stubborn resistance to letting Britain into the club on terms that French, German or Italian businessmen and farmers fear might favor competitive British products or commodities from the Commonwealth nations.

And hints have been going out that the Common Market, because of its fast growth rate of industrial production and consumer markets, thinks it is in a better bargaining situation than the United States on the question of trade barriers. Some cocky Europeans are saying that Americans need access to their markets more than they need lower tariffs here.

So Herter, a former secretary of state under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will need plenty of bargaining savvy in the post to which he was named recently by President Kennedy.

Those who saw the passage of the Trade Expansion Act as opening a new trading era in jig time are now beginning to set back their schedules.

Tariff bargaining is always a long and slow process. Too many interests are involved, on both sides of the table, for the negotiators to act fast.

This time the bargaining may be the harder for several reasons. The desire of Europeans and Japanese to protect their growing industries the costs of production that are rising faster in Europe now than they are here, and therefore make the price protection of tariffs seem more attractive and the very nature of the new look in world trade—the trend toward trading blocs in various parts of the world, which increase consumer markets at home and build up the volume of goods that can be exported.

Jeweler Is Convicted On Income Tax Count

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—N. W. Compton, 49-year-old Pomeroy jeweler convicted on charges of failing to file an income tax return, was held here for federal authorities.

Compton will serve a 90-day prison term as a result of U. S. District Court Judge Mell G. Underwood's refusal to mitigate his sentence. He also was fined $5,000.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SHORTLY before his death, William Faulkner, one of America's greatest authors, told me that Editor Albert Erskine was the finest literary craftsman whom he ever had met. "When he approves a manuscript of mine," said Faulkner, "I know it's ready for the printer."

"Coming from you," I said, "that is a great compliment. Have you told that to Erskine?" I know how delighted he would be."

"No, I haven't," admitted Faulkner with a slow smile. "In my book, when a race horse is running good, Bennett, you don't stop him to feed him a piece of sugar!"

Two young lovers were quarreling on a bench in the park. "I hate you," said the girl. Please return my lock of hair." "Done and done," snapped the boy. "Do you want the dark lock, or the one you gave me when you were a blonde?" Another young Romeo telephoned his beloved to say, "I now own a profitable business, a new car, and a bungalow at Fire Island. How's about our getting married immediately?" "I accept," enthused the girl. "By the way, who's calling?"

One of the most intriguing court stories comes from Pennsylvania, where a lady sued a house painter for damages. She claimed that when she criticized his work, he painted her arms yellow.

Inside You and Yours

By BUTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: We have 70 pints of beets home-canned by open-kettle method. Do we have to throw them all out?

Mrs. J. S. (Ohio)
Dear Mrs. S.: Send 20 cents to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., and request Home and Garden Bulletin No. 8, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

It explains that a steam-pressure canner is essential when canning all common vegetables except tomatoes and that you can test your beets by boiling them for 20 minutes.

Spoiled food foams, and looks or smells off-color!
Dear Doctor: We're new to this area. Can you name a good doctor for us?

Mrs. J. B. (Calif)
Dear Mrs. B.: Phone your local county medical society. Explain any special medical problems you may have. They'll gladly give you a list of doctors to choose from. Why the list? Because no doctor can please all the people even some of the time!

Dear Doctor: My breasts are full of cysts which my doctor checks regularly. But I'm afraid to ask what this can lead to.

Mrs. S.A. (Mass.)

Dear Mrs. A.: These cysts hardly ever lead to cancer. But they're no guarantee that a cancer won't start on its own.

Your regular check - up helps insure against a cancerous growth passing itself off as just another cyst — until it's too late!
Dear Doctor: I've had to change my sweat-soaked bedclothes two or three times a night ever since a bad case of flu. Why?

Mrs. E. B. (N. J.)
Dear Mrs. B.: Infection is probably still smoldering. Its mild fever makes you sweat when your temperature normally rises in late afternoon and evening. A thorough check-up can usually uncover the lurking infection.

While you sweat out the answer, get plenty of rest and nourishing food to help rebuild resistance.

Dear Doctor: I've had 14 months of physical therapy and vitamin injections for Bell's Palsy. My mouth is still drawn down to one side. Will this treatment ever cure it?

Mrs. L. C. (Va.)
Dear Mrs. C.: It may — but after 14 months the odds are against it.

How about checking with a plastic surgeon? He can't make you all smiles, but he can lift that drooping mouth!

Watch Your Expense Accounts

By George Sokolsky

Now, boys and girls, watch your expense accounts. Be sure you do not bribe your customer with a six inch steak and never, never buy a gardenia for the customer's wife. Take your customer to the Automat. He will thereupon refuse to buy from the Britisher or Hollander or Japanese.

The Tax Collector demands proof, absolute proof that you actually spent the money that you claim to be an expense account. You must keep a record. If you are too busy, keep a financial secretary on hand to watch the record. If you tip a hat-chick a quarter, write that down. If possible get a receipt from her.

You must be careful to have no after-thoughts. That might be evidence of corruption. Put it down immediately. Do not say that you we-e out-of-pocket $20 on a trip, if you spent $19.80. Give the precise figure and have it in detail.

Your record must show who you were with, why you were there; also why anybody was there; where you entertained your customer and what you got out of this. This is very exciting information because if you hire some sing-song girls to amuse your guests, you had better put them down as comptometer operators or taxidermists or something.

If you telephone home to find out if Johnny is rid of his appendix, it is a doubtful business expense. If you find it frustrating and unpleasant to have to stay away from home in pursuit of a living for your family, you can always give up the job and get one in the government and go in for the numbers racket.

And remember to get receipts. It may be that you are careless and lose receipts but that would be your own fault. If you spent more than $10, get an itemized bill and receipt to prove that you were there and actually spent the money.

So, I go to the Colony Restaurant where I like to eat when I am not short of change. I have a guest. The bill runs $5.00 or over. I ask Junior—who runs this place—for an itemized bill which nobody can read because it is written in French by Italians. I also demand a receipt. Junior, who has a sense of humor, being a Milanese with an Irish wife, says that he must charge it to the customer. He tells me to eat at the La Caravelle because they can manage better. I would enjoy eating at home if my wife did not count calories and BUN charts. Never mind, if you don't know what BUN is, it will not hurt you to be ignorant.

Suppose you had a luncheon conversation like this:

15 minutes: Captain, let's have the menu. (Captain distributes the menu which is a poster bigger than yourself. Each guest studies it. It is in French. Even the waiter does not read French). What are you going to have? I'll have a small steak and O'Brien potatoes. (Big argument ensues about O'Brien potatoes). How about asparagus? Let's have a drink, etc. etc. etc.

10 minutes: Nobody can understand what the President is doing in Cuba, must be a Russian trick. You can't fool Kennedy. He knows a double-deal when he sees one. Well, if those Russkies have Cuba, we ought to blow the damn place up. Etc. etc. etc.

20 minutes: Eating, drinking, gulping with current comment like

Did you read what that guy Smith said about the State Department? Etc. etc. etc.

30 minutes: Well, let's get down to business about that merger, the lawyers say it's all right if Bobby doesn't call it an anti-trust suit. We can make some money out of that merger. (Then the terms are laid out.) All right, you put it on paper and let the lawyers and accountants look it over. How long? Oh, why not meet a week from today. Let's make it a "21". A week from today. We ought to have the bankers in on it too. We'll need near five million or more to swing it. Gee, what about the SEC lawyer up from Washington to get in on it?

See you a week from today at "21". I'll bring my accountant to make sure that we can charge it off on the expense account.

Dear Editor:

The Pickaway County Board of Health wishes to explain the awkward position in which it found itself by the surprise attack made Nov. 30.

Surprise? Several Board members had several days warning. But it was not until all PTA's had been contacted and members told they, too, were entitled to as much as the City of Circleville regarding skin testing.

In 1960 during the planning stage of the skin testing program, the City and County Health Boards were to meet. The city health nurse gave the county nurse a date and time. I took time out from my farm work to attend. But arriving at the city health office I was informed the meeting time had been changed.

The county health nurse phoned her supervisor in the Ohio Department of Health of the situation. The supervisor said: "I guess they don't want you in on it. I will come later and help you plan a program of our own."

A study was made by the Board of Health of the actual value of such a skin testing program in other areas. Dr. George O. Kress, TB specialist and operator of our TB Clinic, advised against it as a waste of time and money and that the program was of little value in actually finding cases.

Most cases are found by private physicians and hospitals. We know by our case records.

The Ohio Department of Health, not the TB and Health Assn., was stated earlier, pays the initial

Nostalgic Aroma

Recently a significant meeting was held in Lincoln, Neb. It was the National Conference on Wheat Utilization Research — a high-sounding name for a gathering of scientists, wheat - grower organization leaders and milling experts to try to find ways of using America's huge surpluses of grain.

Much of the discussion centered on new developments in making paper from wheat, in industrial uses of the crop and in methods to make wheat more appealing for export. But perhaps the most interesting point was that made by Dr. John R. Matchett of the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He emphasized the possibility of expanding the use of bread in this country through flavor and aroma research. The loss of flavor and aroma of home-baked bread has contributed to the decline in per capita bread consumption, he said.

Dr. Matchett reported that government laboratories have made "substantial progress" in determining what is responsible for fresh bread flavor. Success in such efforts, he said, should help expand bread use markedly.

"If we could halt the decline in per capita bread consumption," he said, "the annual increase in population would utilize 8 million additional bushels of wheat each year."

This is a goal toward which important segments of the milling and baking trades should point. The researchers will have the good wishes of everyone — not only for economic reasons but also because of a nostalgic memory of that wonderful aroma and flavor grandmother's home-baked bread had.

The Red Pattern

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who favors a tougher policy toward Soviet Russia, has some new and potent evidence to cite in behalf of his views. And he is presenting it.

In an address to the New York Chamber of Commerce he pointed to the apparent out-come of the Cuban crisis as a further piece in the pattern that has been evolving since World War II.

General Clay's thesis is that Soviet power expands until it meets an opposing force and then withdraws, because the USSR is not prepared to risk armed conflict. That is what happened in western Europe, General Clay says, and now it has happened again in Cuba.

General Clay's words have the force of both evidence and logic behind them. This has been the pattern. Assuming, of course, that the Cuban situation is, in essence, ended, and that the Soviet Union does not respond with a retaliation that upsets the pattern.

Enough To Make Santa Fume

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that make a street corner Santa Claus want to turn in his belt.

"Here's a penny for you, and a penny for each of your dear little elves."

"How come you ask me again, Santa Claus, when I just told you what I wanted in the department store only 10 minutes ago?"

"Oh, dear, are you absolutely sure you don't have change for a quarter? I hate to pass you by without donating something."

"I'm from the City License Department. If you don't have a license, I'll have to call the Black Maria and give you a free ride downtown."

"Oh, Grace, go ahead. I dare you to pull his beard off."

"I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. Let me sniff your breath. If I smell liquor, you'll turn in that uniform this minute."

"Is it true that except during the Christmas season all you Santa Clauses hang out down on the Bowery?"

"Pod'n me, could you direct me to the store that is having a special on fur coats, marked down from $5,000 to $4,499?"

"Sure, I'm sure, it's Uncle Jake. Nobody — not even Santa Claus — ever had a nose as big and red as Uncle Jake's."

"Uncle, Mama said to tell you she didn't care whether or not its against the rules for you to go shopping in your costume. She says that if you don't stop and pick up a couple of pounds of buying beef on the way home, you won't get any dinner tonight."

"I'm sorry we can't let you use our rest room facilities. This is a high-class establishment. Why don't you try the store across the street?"

"Now, standing out in the cold doesn't bother him. After all, he lives at the north pole, doesn't he?"

"What're you doing going around in a red suit like that? You some kind of a Communist nut, or something?"

"Frankly, in my opinion he's seen a lot more pink elephants in his life than he has reindeer."

"Mama, why are you giving money to Santa Claus? I thought he was supposed to bring presents to us."

"His nose was red when I passed him on the way to work this morning. Now it seems to be turning blue." "I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. I know your feet hurt, but smile, man—look jolly. Maybe if you'd sing a chorus of 'Jingle Bells' now and then, it might stir up a little more business."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Protectionism is far from dead—on either side of the Atlantic or Pacific. And Christian A. Herter as the U.S. government's foreign trade czar may have plenty of trouble translating the President's new tariff bargaining powers into the free trade it envisions.

American manufacturers and unions who see their sales or jobs trimmed or threatened by foreign competition will be heard from, in and out of Congress. And the new law offers various ways of protecting them.

The European Common Market is acclaimed for its striking efforts to lower trade barriers. But its aim is to achieve one big tariff free club—for members only. It plans to maintain at least some tariff barriers against the rest of the world, including U.S. manufacturers and farmers.

And in recent weeks the spirit of keeping these walls fairly high has been reported to be rising.

Britain has been yearning to join the club. But protectionism is far from dead in the United Kingdom either, and certainly is very much alive in the British Commonwealth. Political opposition in Britain to joining the Common Market is growing louder, and is becoming bitter in many of the Commonwealth nations.

Damage to British industry, labor, farmers, and to Commonwealth producers is stressed by the protectionists.

On the Continent there is stubborn resistance to letting Britain into the club on terms that French, German or Italian businessmen and farmers fear might favor competitive British products or commodities from the Commonwealth nations.

And hints have been going out that the Common Market, because of its fast growth rate of industrial production and consumer markets, thinks it is in a better bargaining situation than the United States on the question of trade barriers.

Some cocky Europeans are saying that Americans need access to their markets more than they need lower tariffs here.

So Herter, a former secretary of state under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will need plenty of bargaining savvy in the post to which he was named recently by President Kennedy.

Those who saw the passage of the Trade Expansion Act as opening a new trading era in jig time are now beginning to set back their schedules.

Tariff bargaining is always a long and slow process. Too many interests are involved, on both sides of the table, for the negotiators to act fast.

This time the bargaining may be the harder for several reasons. The desire of Europeans and Japanese to protect their growing industries the costs of production that are rising faster in Europe now than they are here, and therefore make the price protection of tariffs seem more attractive and the very nature of the new look in world trade—the trend toward trading blocs in various parts of the world, which increase consumer markets at home and build up the volume of goods that can be exported.

Jeweler Is Convicted On Income Tax Count

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—N. W. Compton, 49-year-old Pomeroy jeweler convicted on charges of failing to file an income tax return, was held here for federal authorities.

Compton will serve a 90-day prison term as a result of U. S. District Court Judge Mell G. Underwood's refusal to mitigate his sentence. He also was fined $5,000.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SHORTLY before his death, William Faulkner, one of America's greatest authors, told me that Editor Albert Erskine was the finest literary craftsman whom he ever had met. "When he approves a manuscript of mine," said Faulkner, "I know it's ready for the printer."

"Coming from you," I said, "that is a great compliment. Have you told that to Erskine?" I know how delighted he would be."

"No, I haven't," admitted Faulkner with a slow smile. "In my book, when a race horse is running good, Bennett, you don't stop him to feed him a piece of sugar!"

Two young lovers were quarreling on a bench in the park. "I hate you," said the girl. Please return my lock of hair." "Done and done," snapped the boy. "Do you want the dark lock, or the one you gave me when you were a blonde?"

Another young Romeo telephoned his beloved to say, "I now own a profitable business, a new car, and a bungalow at Fire Island. How's about our getting married immediately?" "I accept," enthused the girl. "By the way, who's calling?"

One of the most intriguing court stories comes from Pennsylvania, where a lady sued a house painter for damages. She claimed that when she criticized his work, he painted her arms yellow.

Inside You and Yours

By RUTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: We have 70 pints of beets home-canned by open-kettle method. Do we have to throw them all out?

Mrs. J. S. (Ohio)

Dear Mrs. S.: Send 20 cents to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., and request Home and Garden Bulletin No. 8, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

It explains that a steam-pressure canner is essential when canning all common vegetables except tomatoes and that you can test your beets by boiling them for 20 minutes.

Spoiled food foams, and looks or smells off-color!

Dear Doctor: We're new to this area. Can you name a good doctor for us?

Mrs. J. B. (Calif.)

Dear Mrs. B.: Phone your local county medical society. Explain any special medical problems you may have. They'll gladly give you a list of doctors to choose from.

Why the list? Because no doctor can please all the people even some of the time!

Dear Doctor: My breasts are full of cysts which my doctor checks regularly. But I'm afraid to ask what this can lead to.

Mrs. S.A. (Mass.)

Dear Mrs. A.: These cysts hardly ever lead to cancer. But they're no guarantee that a cancer won't start on its own.

Your regular check-up helps insure against a cancerous growth passing itself off as just another cyst — until it's too late!

Dear Doctor: I've had to change my sweat-soaked bedclothes two or three times a night ever since a bad case of flu. Why?

Mrs. E. B. (N. J.)

Dear Mrs. B.: Infection is probably still smoldering. Its mild fever makes you sweat when your temperature normally rises in late afternoon and evening. A thorough check-up can usually uncover the lurking infection.

While you sweat out the answer, get plenty of rest and nourishing food to help rebuild resistance.

Dear Doctor: I've had 14 months of physical therapy and vitamin injections for Bell's Palsy. My mouth is still drawn down to one side. Will this treatment ever cure it?

Mrs. L. C. (Va.)

Dear Mrs. C.: It may — but after 14 months the odds are against it.

How about checking with a plastic surgeon? He can't make you all smiles, but he can lift that drooping mouth!

Labor Local Charged with Unfair Practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended that the board find Local 18, Ohio statewide unit of the International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO, guilty of an unfair labor practice and penalize it accordingly.

Examiner Samuel M. Singer issued his findings today on a hearing he conducted in Dayton, Ohio, in late September.

Involved in the case was the attempt by an insurgent faction in Local 18 in the past year to topple the administration of the union by Frank Converse of Cleveland, the local's business manager for more than 20 years.

The complaint was lodged by Paul Lewis, an active member of the insurgent faction. Lewis said George Miller, member of the Local 18's state executive board in charge of the Dayton area, forced Lewis out of a job because of his anti-administration activities. Miller contended he told the firm to dismiss Lewis because the employee, a heavy equipment operator, failed to observe union rules pertaining to its job referral system.

The examiner found that the union must restore Lewis to good grace, promise to cease harassing him and others—and pay Lewis for work time lost since he was laid off last April.

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—It was bad enough being hit by a car once, but Robert Utter said he was hurt when the same car struck him again.

Utter, 55, suffered minor injuries, police said, in the incident that occurred when he stopped for a school bus near his Felicity home Tuesday.

The car of Talmadge Henry of Batavia rammed Utter's car and was disabled.

Utter had walked back to help Henry when the Batavia man's car was struck from behind by a third car, and knocked down Utter.

The third motorist, Jessie Richy, 58, of Bethel, went with Utter to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries, Officers said.

Ohio Headquartered 20th Army Corps Undergoing Sweeping Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 20th U.S. Army Corps, with headquarters here and Army Reserve units throughout Ohio and in West Virginia and Kentucky, is undergoing a sweeping reorganization in the Defense Department's newly announced Reserve and National Guard overhaul.

The 20th's commander, Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, predicts the move, described as a streamlining, will improve the readiness of Reserve units.

Lolli said, "It will definitely make the 20th Corps better able to perform its mission."

Members of units to be released as "excess to modern mobilization requirements," the general said, will be afforded the opportunity to join other units.

Following is a list of Army Reserve units in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia to be affected by this reorganization:

Ohio Army Reserve units scheduled to be formed:

CLEVELAND — Company B, 33rd Quartermaster Battalion (Direct Support); Company C, 1st Special Forces, 2nd Special Forces Group; and Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 333rd Quartermaster Battalion (Direct Support).

Labor Local Charged with Unfair Practice

WASHINGTON AP) — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended that the board find Local 18, Ohio statewide unit of the International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO, guilty of an unfair labor practice and penalize it accordingly.

Examiner Samuel M. Singer issued his findings today on a hearing he conducted in Dayton, Ohio, in late September.

Involved in the case was the attempt by an insurgent faction in Local 18 in the past year to topple the administration of the union by Frank Converse of Cleveland, the local's business manager for more than 20 years.

The complaint was lodged by Paul Lewis, an active member of the insurgent faction. Lewis said George Miller, member of the Local 18's state executive board in charge of the Dayton area, forced Lewis out of a job because of his anti-administration activities.

Miller contended he told the firm to dismiss Lewis because the employee, a heavy equipment operator, failed to observe union rules pertaining to its job referral system.

The examiner found that the union must restore Lewis to good grace, promise to cease harassing him and others—and pay Lewis for work time lost since he was laid off last April.

SUZANNE CLIFT, 21-year-old niece of actor Montgomery Clift, looks a bit dazed as an auto takes her from court building in Boston to Massachusetts Health Center for examination. She must remain there for 35 days while psychiatrists determine if she is mentally capable of standing trial in the gunshot killing of Piero B. Brentani, 27, who was her Italian-Swiss boy friend. His nude body was found on her bedroom floor Oct. 3.

Struck Twice By Same Car

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—It was bad enough being hit by a car once, but Robert Utter said he was hurt when the same car struck him again.

Utter, 55, suffered minor injuries, police said, in the incident that occurred when he stopped for a school bus near his Felicity home Tuesday.

The car of Talmadge Henry of Batavia rammed Utter's car and was disabled.

Utter had walked back to help Henry when the Batavia man's car was struck from behind by a third car, and knocked down Utter.

The third motorist, Jessie Richy, 58, of Bethel, went with Utter to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries, officers said.

The community of Hundred, W. Va., received its name from its first settlers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Church, who each lived past the century mark. Church died at the age of 109, Mrs. Church at 106.

Ohio Headquartered 20th Army Corps Undergoing Sweeping Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 20th U.S. Army Corps, with headquarters here and Army Reserve units throughout Ohio and in West Virginia and Kentucky, is undergoing a sweeping reorganization in the Defense Department's newly announced Reserve and National Guard overhaul.

The 20th's commander, Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, predicts the move, described as a streamlining, will improve the readiness of Reserve units.

Lolli said, "It will definitely make the 20th Corps better able to perform its mission."

Members of units to be released as "excess to modern mobilization requirements," the general said, will be afforded the opportunity to join other units.

Following is a list of Army Reserve units in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia to be affected by this reorganization:

Ohio Army Reserve units scheduled to be formed:

CLEVELAND — Company B, 33rd Quartermaster Battalion (Direct Support); Company C, 1st Special Forces, 2nd Special Forces Group; and Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 333rd Quartermaster Battalion (Direct Support).

Touch Up Toys For Kids At Christmas

By ELEANOR ROSS

You can bring happiness this Christmas to children in hospitals and orphanages as well as to the underprivileged in various communities by touching up and donating the toys your own children have outgrown or no longer enjoy.

In many communities, civic and fraternal groups have organized programs for this purpose.

The easiest way to make old toys in basically good condition look like new again is with colorful quality enamels and here are some tips to help you do the job.

Use only suitable enamels, particularly those that contain less than 1 per cent of lead. Be sure to tell your paint dealer that you want the enamel for painting toys. Under no circumstances use outside paint on toys or children's furniture.

Bear in mind that children prefer bold, strong colors, the primaries of red, yellow and blue and the bright secondaries of orange, green, purple. It takes a more sophisticated taste to enjoy pastels and the less lively dark shades.

First step is to wash the toys with detergent to remove finger marks and other soil. If the old finish is still glossy, it should be dulled with sandpaper, so that the new finish will adhere better.

Any cracks or holes in the wood should be filled with water putty or plastic wood which should be permitted to dry before being sanded smooth.

Spots on wood toys from which the old finish has been chipped should be filled in with enamel undercoat before being refinished.

For small articles, you'll find the self-spraying enamels in aerosol cans are the easiest and most practical to use.

If more than one color is to be applied, protect the already painted surfaces with masking tape.

Anatomical features on toy animals and details on other objects can be painted with small artists' brushes after the body color has fully dried.

When refinishing metal toys, it is important that any rust be removed with steel wool before the article is recoated. Wherever the bare metal shows through it should be primed with a rust-inhibiting primer of the zinc dust or iron oxide types. Do not use red lead or yellow zinc.

Much the same rules apply to children's furniture, but with the larger pieces it is possible to be more decorative.

The easiest way to pretty these up is with decals or with stencils. Paint dealers and art stores have a variety of stencils from which to choose, or you can make your own by drawing the design in heavy paper or cardboard and then cutting it out with a razor blade.

Hold the stencil in place with masking tape and apply the enamel from an aerosol can or use a stencil brush with regular enamel. If you have artistic talent, draw the design on the surface with chalk and then paint over with enamel or with artists' colors mixed with white enamel.

Hot Spicy Pies Help Set Holiday Mood

By ALICE DENHOFF

There's nothing better to help put you in the holiday mood than to end dinner with hot spicy pies. Just the thought of the house being filled with the tantalizing aromas of ginger, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg brings visions of the family gathered around a table piled high with the season's plentiful foods.

So let's consider those pies now, beginning with a really different recipe that is well worth trying.

SPICED CARROT PIE

1 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground ginger
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
1 1/2 c. mashed cooked carrots
3 eggs, lightly beaten
1 1/2 c. milk or light cream
9-in. uncooked pie crust

Combine sugar, salt and spices. Stir in carrots and eggs. Add milk and mix well.
Pour in 9-in. pie pan lined with unbaked pastry.
Bake at 400 degree F. 1 hr., or until filling is set.

Cool and serve.
SPICED FRESH CRANBERRY AND RAISIN PIE

2 1/2 c. fresh cranberries
1/2 c. seedless raisins
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
2 tbs. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
2 (9-in.) pie shells
2 tbs. butter or margarine

Put cranberries and raisins through food chopper, using coarse blade.
Add sugar, spices, flour, salt and lemon rind.

Turn into 9-in. unbaked pie shell. Dot with butter or margarine.
Cover with second pastry rolled to 1/8 in. thickness.

Cut small gash in top for steam vent.
Bake at 425 degrees F. for 15 min., then reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking 30 min. longer or until crust is brown.

This pie may be served slightly warmed, or cold. It is delicious either way.

SPICED PUMPKIN PIE

1 c. light brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground allspice
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
2 tbs. light corn syrup
2 c. mashed cooked pumpkin
3 eggs
1 c. milk

Unbaked pastry for 9-in. pie
Whipped cream (optional)
Combine first 6 ingredients, mixing well.

Stir in corn syrup and pumpkin. Beat in eggs. Gradually blend in milk.

Pour into 9-in. pie pan lined with unbaked pastry.
Bake at 400 degrees F. for 45 to 50 min., or until center is firm. Cool.

If desired, garnish with whipped cream just before serving. Serves 6.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Landlubber and the Sailor

DEAR ABBY: I had a date with a sailor, and he was a doll. He is my girl friend's steady's shipmate and it was a fixed-up date. I had a marvelous time. When he took me home he asked for a good-night kiss. I told him I didn't believe in kissing a boy on the first date, and that a kiss was meant to show "love," and I didn't know him that well. He said a kiss was meant to show appreciation and I was "old-fashioned." Was I wrong, Abby? Do girls really kiss boys to show their "appreciation"? My girl friend said he liked me a lot and would call me again. If he does, should I go? I am 16 and he is 19.

DIMPLE IN MY CHIN

DEAR DIMPLE: If he calls you again, go. It might indicate that he respects your "old-fashioned" ideas. But if he insists that "affectionate gestures" mean "thank you," kiss him "goodbye—for ever."

DEAR ABBY: In the interest of one's health, do you think it is wise to bathe during the winter months?

A. L.

DEAR A. L.: Out of consideration for one's FRIENDS, I would recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: We are a family of eight adults. Our father passed away years ago and our mother is 80. She is senile and has been in a sanitarium for six years. Only one of my sisters and I visit her regularly and attend to her needs. Mother will not be with us much longer, and I am wondering if my sister and I should waste the time at money to notify our brothers and sisters when mother dies. They live near enough so they could have visited her once a year (they all take vacations elsewhere) and not one of them has ever sent her a card or a c e t. They never write to us, or call to ask how she is. She was a wonderful mother and doesn't deserve to be forgotten this way.

A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Yes, notify them when your mother dies. And don't be surprised to see the ones who did the least for her when she was living cry the loudest at her funeral.

DEAR ABBY: The doctor told my husband that whisky was good for a cold, so every time my husband gets the sniffle, he buys himself a fifth of whisky and gets plowed out of his mind. This has been happening more and more lately until I am beginning to wonder if my husband really has a cold. Right now he is stretch out on the sofa sleeping off another one of his "cures." Isn't there another way to cure a cold, Abby?

GETTING DISGUSTED
DEAR GETTING: You bet! Call your doctor and ask him to prescribe a remedy. I think your husband is looking for an excuse to get a snootful.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Touch Up Toys For Kids At Christmas

By ELEANOR ROSS

You can bring happiness this Christmas to children in hospitals and orphanages as well as to the underprivileged in various communities by touching up and donating the toys your own children have outgrown or no longer enjoy.

In many communities, civic and fraternal groups have organized programs for this purpose.

The easiest way to make old toys in basically good condition look like new again is with colorful quality enamels and here are some tips to help you do the job.

Use only suitable enamels, particularly those that contain less than 1 per cent of lead. Be sure to tell your paint dealer that you want the enamel for painting toys. Under no circumstances use outside paint on toys or children's furniture.

Bear in mind that children prefer bold, strong colors, the primaries of red, yellow and blue and the bright secondaries of orange, green, purple. It takes a more sophisticated taste to enjoy pastels and the less lively dark shades.

First step is to wash the toys with detergent to remove fingermarks and other soil. If the old finish is still glossy, it should be dulled with sandpaper, so that the new finish will adhere better.

Any cracks or holes in the wood should be filled with water putty or plastic wood which should be permitted to dry before being sanded smooth.

Spots on wood toys from which the old finish has been chipped should be filled in with enamel undercoat before being refinished.

For small articles, you'll find the self-spraying enamels in aerosol cans are the easiest and most practical to use.

If more than one color is to be applied, protect the already painted surfaces with masking tape.

Anatomical features on toy animals and details on other objects can be painted with small artists' brushes after the body color has fully dried.

When refinishing metal toys, it is important that any rust be removed with steel wool before the article is recoated. Wherever the bare metal shows through it should be primed with a rust-inhibiting primer of the zinc dust or iron oxide types. Do not use red lead or yellow zinc.

Much the same rules apply to children's furniture, but with the larger pieces it is possible to be more decorative.

The easiest way to pretty these up is with decals or with stencils. Paint dealers and art stores have a variety of stencils from which to choose, or you can make your own by drawing the design in heavy paper or cardboard and then cutting it out with a razor blade.

Hold the stencil in place with masking tape and apply the enamel from an aerosol can or use a stencil brush with regular enamel.

If you have artistic talent, draw the design on the surface with chalk and then paint over with enamel or with artists' colors mixed with white enamel.

Hot Spicy Pies Help Set Holiday Mood

By ALICE DENHOFF

There's nothing better to help put you in the holiday mood than to end dinner with hot spicy pies. Just the thought of the house being filled with the tantalizing aromas of ginger, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg brings visions of the family gathered around a table piled high with the season's plentiful foods.

So let's consider those pies now, beginning with a really different recipe that is well worth trying.

SPICED CARROT PIE

1 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground ginger
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
1 1/2 c. mashed cooked carrots
3 eggs, lightly beaten
1 1/2 c. milk or light cream
9-in. uncooked pie crust

Combine sugar, salt and spices. Stir in carrots and eggs. Add milk and mix well.

Pour in 9-in. pie pan lined with unbaked pastry.

Bake at 400 degree F. 1 hr., or until filling is set.

Cool and serve.

SPICED FRESH CRANBERRY AND RAISIN PIE

2 1/4 c. fresh cranberries
1/2 c. seedless raisins
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
2 tsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
2 (9-in.) pie shells
2 tsp. butter or margarine

Put cranberries and raisins through food chopper, using coarse blade.

Add sugar, spices, flour, salt and lemon rind.

Turn into 9-in. unbaked pie shell. Dot with butter or margarine.

Cover with second pastry rolled to 1/8 in. thickness.

Cut small gash in top for steam vent.

Bake at 425 degrees F. for 15 min., then reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking 30 min. longer or until crust is brown.

This pie may be served slightly warmed, or cold. It is delicious either way.

SPICED PUMPKIN PIE

1 c. light brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground allspice
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
2 tsp. light corn syrup
2 c. mashed cooked pumpkin
3 eggs
1 c. milk

Unbaked pastry for 9-in. pie
Whipped cream (optional)
Combine first 6 ingredients, mixing well.

Stir in corn syrup and pumpkin. Beat in eggs. Gradually blend in milk.

Pour into 9-in. pie pan lined with unbaked pastry.

Bake at 400 degrees F. for 45 to 50 min., or until center is firm.

Cool.

If desired, garnish with whipped cream just before serving.

Serves 6.

If you like tangy flavor in your cheese sauce, add both Worcester-shire sauce and cayenne pepper.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER THREE FLYING LESSONS

For three days and three nights Mr. Shnoo worked with the reindeer but he could not teach them to fly.

"You can do it! You can!" insisted Mr. Shnoo. He spread his arms and leaped from rock to rock to show them what he wanted of them.

The reindeer were anxious to please. They listened to Mr. Shnoo's instructions; they ran to and fro; they even leaped over the low fence he built. But that is as near as they came to flying.

Mr. Shnoo set up a movie screen and showed the deer a movie of Santa Claus in his sleigh being carried over the rooftops by eight soaring reindeer.

"There!" exclaimed Mr. Shnoo. "If they can do it so can you."

The deer stared at the screen in astonishment. They could not believe that the graceful creatures skimming above the clouds were the same as themselves. When the picture was over they looked at one another in wonder but they were still earthbound and could not fly.

Mr. Shnoo took Horace, the herd leader, to the bird cage and left him there the whole day to watch the birds skimming among the trees. At the end of the day Horace had gained nothing but a crick in the neck from holding his head back so long. Mr. Shnoo rubbed Horace's neck with reindeer anointment oil. The next day he took him to the monkey cages.

"See, even monkeys can do it!" said Mr. Shnoo. "And they don't have wings."

Sure enough, the monkeys were gliding from bar to bar as if flying were the easiest thing in the world. The funny-faced creatures screamed at Horace, laughing at him for his great solid bulk that he couldn't lift off the ground.

Back in the reindeer enclosure, Horace was very sad and all the other reindeer were sad, too. They knew they were not beautiful and now they felt they were failures. Mr. Shnoo saw how they felt and he was filled with remorse.

He put his arm around Horace's thick neck. "Never mind," he murmured. "You are as you are. You needn't try to fly anymore."

He gave all the deer an extra big feeding and patted each one on his soft muzzle. Then he went to his office to send a message to Santa Claus.

"Sorry," he wrote. "I can't help you after all. My reindeer can't fly."

Then he went off to bed for it was late and he was very tired after all his efforts. He was cheerful but he couldn't help feeling disappointed. He had so wanted his deer to shine. And, of course, he had wanted very much to help Santa because it isn't every day that Santa asks help from anyone.

"Whatever will Santa do now?" wondered Mr. Shnoo.

He went to sleep and while he slept he had a dream. He dreamed that the reindeer — his own Shnoo's zoo reindeer — were flying, all on their own, without the slightest difficulty. The dream was so real and so powerful it woke him and he popped out of bed crying. "Could it really be?"

He shook his head and got back under the covers. "What nonsense!" he grumbled. A minute later he was out of bed again pulling on his trousers. "I'll just go have a look anyway," he said to himself. "Perhaps the poor creatures are in trouble."

He ran out of the house and off to the reindeer enclosure. There, by the light of the moon, he saw the most extraordinary sight.

The reindeer were not just flying — they were soaring! They somersaulted; they made hairpin turns; they shot down; they skimmed the earth and surged heavenward again. The flew in formation; they flew solo; they zigzagged; they coasted. They hung motionless in the center of the heaven.

Mr. Shnoo rubbed his eyes. "Crookshank is right," he murmured. "I'm out of my head."

Great-Grandparents Plan To Be Married

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Two long-time friends, both great-grandparents in their 80s and in good health, plan to be married Saturday.

The civil ceremony uniting Arthur C. Jackson, 82, Philadelphia, and Helen Eastwick Harper, 81, of nearby Wallingford, is to be performed by Judge E. Leroy Van Roden. The two also are to exchange vows in a Quaker ceremony at the bride-to-be's home.

Ohio Firm Low Bidder

CHICAGO (AP) — Emmy Construction Co., Millersport, Ohio, submitted a low bid of $204,700 for extension and alterations to the Mayfield, Ky., Post office, the General Services Administration reports.

A contract will be awarded in about two weeks, according to the GSA. A spokesman said five bids were submitted.

He spread his arms to show what he wanted of them.

Better Watch Out Now, Jolly Santa Claus Coming to Town

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You'd better watch out. Santa Claus is coming to town.

Matter of fact, his helpers already have arrived at the emporiums of Beverly Hills, where the movie stars do their Christmas shopping.

Oh, it is a grand display of baubles, bangles and beads to entice the modern-day Magi. Here you can find the answer to the perplexing problem of what to give Frank, Dean, Peter and Sammy.

I took a walk along the glittering byways of Wilshire Boulevard and Rodeo Drive, the heart of bauble belt. Even such a prosaic location as a drugstore (the Beverly Wilshire) features its perennial luxury gift: the wild-boar bristle hair brush at $50.

Kerr's sporting goods offers everything for the sport. Does he shoot? How about the Merkel over-and-under shotgun with gold engraving at $4,500? Gift-wrapped, of course.

Does he chess? Then how about a hand-carved and painted Italian chess set at $350 sans board?

GUERRILLA ATTACKS on light planes and helicopters in Viet Nam focus attention on the need for an "equalizer" for "copter pilots. The Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Mich., has received a $232,000 U.S. Army contract to continue research and development of a 40-millimeter grenade-launcher to be mounted on U.S. Army "copters. Designated the XM75, the launcher is capable of firing sustained bursts of grenades at enemy ground forces. (Central Press)

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER THREE FLYING LESSONS

For three days and three nights Mr. Shnoo worked with the reindeer but he could not teach them to fly.

"You can do it! You can!" insisted Mr. Shnoo. He spread his arms and leaped from rock to rock to show them what he wanted of them.

The reindeer were anxious to please. They listened to Mr. Shnoo's instructions; they ran to and fro; they even leaped over the low fence he built. But that is as near as they came to flying.

Mr. Shnoo set up a movie screen and showed the deer a movie of Santa Claus in his sleigh being carried over the rooftops by eight soaring reindeer.

"There!" exclaimed Mr. Shnoo. "If they can do it so can you."

The deer stared at the screen in astonishment. They could not believe that the graceful creatures skimming above the clouds were the same as themselves. When the picture was over they looked at one another in wonder but they were still earthbound and could not fly.

Mr. Shnoo took Horace, the herd leader, to the bird cage and left him there the whole day to watch the birds skimming among the trees. At the end of the day Horace had gained nothing but a crick in the neck from holding his head back so long. Mr. Shnoo rubbed Horace's neck with reindeer ointment oil. The next day he took him to the monkey cages.

"See, even monkeys can do it!" said Mr. Shnoo. "And they don't have wings."

Sure enough, the monkeys were gliding from bar to bar as if flying were the easiest thing in the world. The funny-faced creatures screamed at Horace, laughing at him for his great solid bulk that he couldn't lift off the ground.

Back in the reindeer enclosure, Horace was very sad and all the other reindeer were sad, too. They knew they were not beautiful and now they felt they were failures. Mr. Shnoo saw how they felt and he was filled with remorse.

He put his arm around Horace's thick neck. "Never mind," he murmured. "You are as you are. You needn't try to fly anymore."

He gave all the deer an extra big feeding and patted each one on his soft muzzle. Then he went to his office to send a message to Santa Claus.

"Sorry," he wrote. "I can't help you after all. My reindeer can't fly."

Then he went off to bed for he was late and he was very tired after all his efforts. He was cheerful but he couldn't help feeling disappointed. He had so wanted his deer to shine. And, of course, he had wanted very much to help Santa because it isn't every day that Santa asks help from anyone.

"Whatever will Santa do now?" wondered Mr. Shnoo.

He went to sleep and while he slept he had a dream. He dreamed that the reindeer — his own Shnoo's zoo reindeer — were flying, all on their own, without the slightest difficulty. The dream was so real and so powerful it woke him and he popped out of bed crying. "Could it really be?"

He shook his head and got back under the covers. "What nonsense!" he grumbled. A minute later he was out of bed again pulling on his trousers. "I'll just go have a look anyway," he said to himself. "Perhaps the poor creatures are in trouble."

He ran out of the house and off to the reindeer enclosure. There, by the light of the moon, he saw the most extraordinary sight.

The reindeer were not just flying — they were soaring! They somersaulted; they made hairpin turns; they shot down; they skimmed the earth and surged heavenward again. The flew in formation; they flew solo; they zigzagged; they coasted. They hung motionless in the center of the heaven.

Mr. Shnoo rubbed his eyes. "Crookshank is right," he murmured. "I'm out of my head."

In the United Nations:

World Problems during Day, Social Battles in Evening

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —"It's grim enough dealing with Cuba or the Congo all day," said the diplomat, staring glumly at the milling throng of drinkers. "To fight your way through this every night is a bit too much."

With 110 member nations determined to wine and dine each other before the General Assembly session ends soon, the average delegate usually winds up his day being jostled about a smoke-filled room.

The envoy first must stand in line up to half an hour to pay his respects to the host ambassador. Then he is free to battle his way through the packed room in search of a cocktail tray.

If the drink gives him courage to try the buffet, the guest attaches himself to another long line inching past the food tables. After receiving a plate of spiced beef or one of the volcanic curries that most U.N. parties feature, he has the final problem of finding a place to sit.

After a three-week round of U.N. receptions and banquets during his 1960 visit to the assembly, Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a newsman: "This life would make a stone sick."

Ten years ago the United Nations had fewer than 60 members. A delegate averaged a couple of small parties a week during the session. Now he often attends two or three affairs in one evening. By the time the assembly is over he has gone to more than 80 such functions and consumed enough spiced food and strong drink to turn the ordinary stomach to stone.

He faithfully makes the rounds because diplomatic etiquette requires it, and he hopes to pick up useful information chatting with fellow delegates.

The late Dag Hammarskjold avoided social functions, but he once described the U.N. reception as a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. His successor, U. Thant, goes to parties when time permits and engages in informal exchanges he could never fit into his busy work schedule.

With the rapid growth of the United Nations, receptions have become so jammed that it is difficult for a jostled delegate to indulge in any quiet lobbying.

The growth of the world forum has posed an acute problem for the U.N. catering staff which handles parties at the East River headquarters.

"We can't accommodate more than 750 persons in the main dining room at one time," said Frank W. Reickert, who runs the network of bars and restaurants. Countries with huge guest lists often solve the problem by holding their functions in New York's big midtown hotels. Oil-rich Saudi Arabia gives a glittering reception each fall at a rooftop room. Some of the wealthier African and Latin-American nations also hold lavish outside affairs.

The Soviet Union goes all-out each fall with its October revolution party. The Kremlin keeps a tight grip on the purse strings. After the first half-hour caviar, champagne and vodka are replaced by highballs and sandwiches.

SHORT HAUL JET—Boeing rolls out the first three-engine plane since the Ford Tri-Motor of a generation ago at its Seattle, Wash., plant. This triple-jet job is for small airfields and short runs. It has advanced high lift devices for short takeoffs and low approach speeds. The jet engines are mounted on the fuselage behind wings instead of on wings.

Marina Fire Loss Set at $300,000

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A fire that struck Martin's Boat Marina in Grand River northeast of here just before midnight Tuesday was brought under control after a two-hour struggle by firemen from five communities.

Firemen said the marina was a complete loss but they were unable to give a damage estimate. The marina and boats kept there were reported as having a combined value of $300,000.

No injuries were reported. Cause of the blaze had not been determined.

Pay Phone Looter Held
CLEVELAND (AP) — Forcefully entering a depository box was the charge placed against an Indianapolis man who, police say, admitted taking nearly $20,000 from pay telephones in four states during the past 18 months.

William M. Rice, 52, was bound to the grand jury and returned to jail in lieu of $500,000 bond. Detectives quoted Rice as saying he used small metal picks to open phone coin boxes in Detroit, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Cleveland and several other Ohio cities.

Nine of every 100 families made some form of political financial contribution in the last presidential election, the American Heritage Foundation has disclosed.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1962. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa, founded at William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va. It was the first Greek-letter society in America.

On this day: In 1782, the man who became the United States' eighth president, Martin Van Buren, was born at Kinderhook, N.Y.

In 1844, citizens of Charleston, S. C., expelled Samuel Hoar, who had been sent to aid Negro citizens from Massachusetts imprisoned in the southern city.

In 1916, the Rumanian capital of Bucharest surrendered to the German army during World War I.

In 1933, the Fascist Grand Council declared that Italy would withdraw from the League of Nations unless that organization was reformed.

The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations merged into the free world's largest labor federation, the AFL-CIO.

Today's birthdays: Animated cartoonist Walt Disney is 61. Movie producer Fritz Lang is 72.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1962. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa, the first Greek-letter society in America, was founded at William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va. It was the first Greek-letter society in America.

On this day: In 1782, the man who became the United States' eighth president, Martin Van Buren, was born at Kinderhook, N.Y.

In 1844, citizens of Charleston, S. C., expelled Samuel Hoar, who had been sent to aid Negro citizens from Massachusetts imprisoned in the southern city.

In 1916, the Rumanian capital of Bucharest surrendered to the German army during World War I.

In 1933, the Fascist Grand Council declared that Italy would withdraw from the League of Nations unless that organization was reformed.

The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations merged into the free world's largest labor federation, the AFL-CIO.

Today's birthdays: Animated cartoonist Walt Disney is 61. Movie producer Fritz Lang is 72.

Thought for today: What the imagination seizes as beauty must be truth—Keats.

The World Today

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of a series of three analyses on government information policies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — News from President Kennedy's administration isn't always handled in a goldfish bowl.

Kennedy himself is probably more accessible to reporters who want to see him than any president. The resulting stories, as this writer sees them, are not always happy, however, because of the rules covering such meetings.

By not revealing they were obtained in an interview and by not even indicating the President did the talking, they sometimes serve as simple publicity pipelines for Kennedy's views without his having to be responsible for them.

The practice is not new. Other presidents have done the same, in one way or another. Off-the-record dinners or lunches with government officials are a kind of Washington folk custom.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, more and more has developed the habit of talking to reporters for background only—meaning what he says can't be attributed to him directly.

At the same time, other sources in the White House, within the bounds of any highly sensitive situation, have been accessible to reporters and occasionally very helpful.

Tuesday night in Pittsburgh, Salinger said, "Information has never been more accessible in Washington than it is today." He took newspapers to task for what he called their failure to deal effectively with irresponsibility within their own ranks.

But there is also within the Kennedy administration the kind of story that is fed or leaked to reporters and damages key people around Kennedy. Two examples: The cases of Chester Bowles and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Back in 1961 Charles L. Bartlett, close personal friend of Kennedy and Washington correspondent of The Chattanooga Times, wrote that Bowles, then undersecretary of state but not for long, had created a sense of disorder in the State Department and would continue to do so while he kept his job.

Bowles wasn't dropped immediately. But from then until he was removed, and given a job as special adviser to Kennedy, rumors persisted he was on his way out.

Now in this week's Saturday Evening Post, Bartlett, but this time along with Stewart Alsop, who is said to have fine contacts within the administration, reported on the "harried, secret" October days when Kennedy and his advisers decided on a showdown with Russia over its missiles in Cuba.

Secret though all this was supposed to be, Bartlett and Alsop report on who said what to Kennedy. But when they get to the part played by Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, they quote a "nonadmirable" official as saying Stevenson "wanted a Munich" by making concessions to Russia.

A new storm broke: Was the administration getting ready to bounce Stevenson, as it bounced Bowles? Unless Kennedy now publicly backs Stevenson his value at the United Nations seems badly damaged.

Nothing here is intended to suggest Kennedy himself did the feeding or leaking about Bowles or Stevenson. But somebody around him did, and perhaps the somebody didn't like either man to begin with.

The administration has been criticized by the press for the way it clamped down on news during the Cuban crisis. But Salinger said Tuesday night that, while the administration did put the lid on information affecting national security, it withheld no legitimate information.

But 18 months ago The Associated Press reported, when there was no crisis, that "access to news sources" under the Kennedy administration is "managed" because Defense Secretary Robert

S. McNamara attempts to "determine who and under what circumstances newsmen interview or contact officials."

McNamara tightened up almost from the time he took office in 1961. So it was only a reminder of a standing order when, during the Cuban crisis, Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, instructed all Pentagon officials to report to him the substance of all interviews with newsmen. That order still stands.

The State Department issued

similar instructions to its officials during the Cuban affair, but later withdrew them. This writer has been pretty reliably informed that an order similar to Sylvester's was given to all division chiefs in the Department of Justice, not in writing but verbally.

That department is headed by Kennedy's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. The public affairs chief there is Edwin Guthman. When his writer sought to reach them Tuesday, for confirmation or denial, the answer was that both were out of town.

Only Columbus, Dayton Able To Recover Recession Losses

CLEVELAND (AP)—Only Columbus and Dayton of nine metropolitan areas in the district have bounced back from recession losses suffered during 10 months starting in May 1960, according to a study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

The survey of employment changes in the 4th Federal District concluded that differences in the amounts of decline reflected the number of jobs accounted for by manufacturing industries, especially durable goods and primary metals.

The greatest losers in terms of jobs were Youngstown-Warren and Pittsburgh and Canton, all areas that rely heavily on steel.

Other cities included in the survey were Cincinnati, Cleveland,

Akron and Toledo. The study covered non-agricultural payroll employment, which includes between 80 and 85 per cent of the labor force in the area and ranges from 100,000 in Canton to 750,000 in Pittsburgh.

With the exception of Columbus, the Federal Reserve report notes, each of these areas has a heavier concentration of manufacturing employment than the United States as a whole. Within the manufacturing sector there is a heavier concentration of jobs in durable goods manufacturing in all areas, except for Akron, than is true for the U. S.

Akron is a special case because it is dominated by the rubber industry, which is classified as nondurable goods, but follows the activity of the automobile industry. The latter is durable goods and directly affects Akron employment.

During the recession period—May 1960 to February 1961—declines in employment in the durable goods industries ranged from 6 to 18 per cent. Reductions in Canton and in Youngstown-Warren were at the top of the range. Within the durable goods sector, employment in primary metals industries dropped by more than 20 per cent during the recession period, a decline which was more severe than in any other group of durable goods industries.

The survey says both Columbus and Dayton have a high concentration of government employment. These two areas were the only ones to have fully recovered their recession losses in total non-agricultural wage and salary employment by September 1962.

However, only Columbus had higher manufacturing employment in September than it had in May 1960. This means recovery up to or beyond the pre-recession peak in total non-farm employment had to be accomplished by a greater increase in jobs in the non-manufacturing sector.

By September, all areas except Toledo and Canton had surpassed the level of May 1960 in non-manufacturing employment. But only in Dayton was the increase in non-manufacturing employment sufficient to compensate for a loss in manufacturing jobs to raise the overall level.

Police Probe Strange Episode Of Shadowy Figure in Sewer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shadowy figure, believed to be a teen-ager with a twisted flair for chemistry, eluded police but left behind — in a storm sewer — a cache of materials believed connected with dozens of deliberately set fires.

It was a strange episode near mammoth Ohio Stadium Tuesday night as officers seemingly got hot on the track of the culprit believed responsible for more than a hundred garage fires in the Ohio State University area of Columbus North Side.

Arson squad experts at the Police Department today were analyzing a haul that included beakers, jars, gasoline, kerosene, gunpowder, shotgun shell casings, a hunk of giberboard and miscellaneous books and notebooks. Already obtained were fingerprints that may help solve a case that has baffled the police for months.

None of the fires caused personal injuries. But there has been some speculation among police that perhaps the arsonist had something to do with the September slaying of Mary Margaret Andrews, 19, in the university district—another case that has gone up nothing but blind alleys.

This is the way events unraveled around Olentangy River Road and West Lane Avenue Tuesday:

In the morning, Robert Smith, a shepherd at the university farms in the area, caught a fleeting glimpse of a youth, age perhaps between 14 and 18, coming out of a culvert that runs under Olentangy River Road to the river-side. He notified campus police.

The university officers went to the spot toward evening. One went down a hillside to the 4-foot-diameter opening at the west side of the culvert. He saw a light inside. Thinking it might be a reflection, he shone his flashlight into the culvert.

At this, the light inside vanished—but the officer thought he saw the shadowy figure. He went back to his car and radioed for more campus police. They entered the underground drain, and by the time they came out the east side, near the river, they had found the "chemistry laboratory."

But they found no person, although they also looked down connecting sewer passages.

Eventually, city police were called in Tuesday night, along with an Ohio State chemistry professor to size up the find.

Storemen Are Cited
SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Three stores and four individuals have been charged with violating Ohio's Sunday closing law. Affidavits were filed against them Tuesday by John Whiffen, an Erie County deputy sheriff, before Municipal Court Judge James A. Young.

Told to appear Dec. 7 to answer the charges were Giant Tiger Store, Wally's Food Town and Pic-way Show Mart, plus four clerks in the stores.

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs reported expenditures in behalf of all candidates for public office in 1960 totaled $165 to $175 million.

About 150 foreign correspondents covered the 1960 national presidential conventions.

Unions Study Proposals on Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two unions were studying issues and proposals today as negotiators sought to unravel a dispute over new contracts that shut down Cleveland's two daily newspapers six days ago.

A spokesman for the Cleveland Newspaper Guild said a newly worded proposal on the job security issue was presented by publishers' representatives in a four-hour session Tuesday night. Union negotiators and representatives of the Plain Dealer and the Press and News met in the federal mediation offices with Gilbert J. Seldin, a mediator.

Earlier in the day negotiations with Teamsters Local 473, representing 405 delivery drivers, were recessed after what Seldin called a fruitful session. Seldin said the talks were recessed subject to call and that the two sides will prepare alternate proposals on some issues for consideration at a future session.

More talks with Newspaper Guild representatives were scheduled today at 4 p.m.

The publishers scheduled contract talks today with the Typographical Union—the first negotiations with this union since the strike started Thursday night.

Management must negotiate contracts with other craft unions also, but a source close to the negotiations called the Typographical Union a key group in the current round of talk.

Two Are Injured In Car-Bus Crash

MARION, Ohio (AP)—An automobile and a nearly empty school bus collided east of here Tuesday killing Mrs. Mildred Butler, 40, of Smithfield (Jefferson County) and severely injuring her minister husband and another minister.

The Rev. S. M. Butler, was listed in poor condition in Marion General Hospital after the accident on U.S. 308 five miles from the city. The Rev. Esau Williams, 44, of Pittsburgh was reported in fair condition in the hospital.

The bus driver, Joe Cox, 47, of Rt. 1, Edison, and his only passenger at the time, Cindy Yoe-man, about 6, were not injured seriously.

The World Today

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of a series of three analyses on government information policies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — News from President Kennedy's administration isn't always handled in a goldfish bowl.

Kennedy himself is probably more accessible to reporters who want to see him than any president. The resulting stories, as this writer sees them, are not always happy, however, because of the rules covering such meetings.

By not revealing they were obtained in an interview and by not even indicating the President did the talking, they sometimes serve as simple publicity pipelines for Kennedy's views without his having to be responsible for them.

The practice is not new. Other presidents have done the same, in one way or another. Off-the-record dinners or lunches with government officials are a kind of Washington folk custom.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, more and more has developed the habit of talking to reporters for background only—meaning what he says can't be attributed to him directly.

At the same time, other sources in the White House, within the bounds of any highly sensitive situation, have been accessible to reporters and occasionally very helpful.

Tuesday night in Pittsburgh, Salinger said, "Information has never been more accessible in Washington than it is today." He took newspapers to task for what he called their failure to deal effectively with irresponsibility within their own ranks.

But there is also within the Kennedy administration the kind of story that is fed or leaked to reporters and damages key people around Kennedy. Two examples: The cases of Chester Bowles and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Back in 1961 Charles L. Bartlett, close personal friend of Kennedy and Washington correspondent of The Chattanooga Times, wrote that Bowles, then undersecretary of state but not for long, had created a sense of disorder in the State Department and would continue to do so while he kept his job.

Bowles wasn't dropped immediately. But from then until he was removed, and given a job as special adviser to Kennedy, rumors persisted he was on his way out.

Now in this week's Saturday Evening Post, Bartlett, but this time along with Stewart Alsop, who is said to have fine contacts within the administration, reported on the "barrier, secret" October days when Kennedy and his advisers decided on a showdown with Russia over its missiles in Cuba.

Secret though all this was supposed to be, Bartlett and Alsop report on who said what to Kennedy. But when they get to the part played by Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, they quote a "nonadmirable" official as saying Stevenson "wanted a Munich" by making concessions to Russia.

A new storm broke: Was the administration getting ready to bounce Stevenson, as it bounced Bowles? Unless Kennedy now publicly backs Stevenson his value at the United Nations seems badly damaged.

Nothing here is intended to suggest Kennedy himself did the feeding or leaking about Bowles or Stevenson. But somebody around him did, and perhaps the somebody didn't like either man to begin with.

The administration has been criticized by the press for the way it clamped down on news during the Cuban crisis. But Salinger said Tuesday night that, while the administration did put the lid on information affecting national security, it withheld no legitimate information.

But 18 months ago The Associated Press reported, when there was no crisis, that "access to news sources" under the Kennedy administration is "managed" because Defense Secretary Robert

S. McNamara attempts to "determine who and under what circumstances newsmen interview or contact officials."

McNamara tightened up almost from the time he took office in 1961. So it was only a reminder of a standing order when, during the Cuban crisis, Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, instructed all Pentagon officials to report to him the substance of all interviews with newsmen. That order still stands.

The State Department issued

similar instructions to its officials during the Cuban affair, but later withdrew them. This writer has been pretty reliably informed that an order similar to Sylvester's was given to all division chiefs in the Department of Justice, not in writing but verbally.

That department is headed by Kennedy's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. The public affairs chief there is Edwin Guthman. When his writer sought to reach them Tuesday, for confirmation or denial, the answer was that both were out of town.

Only Columbus, Dayton Able To Recover Recession Losses

CLEVELAND (AP)—Only Columbus and Dayton of nine metropolitan areas in the district have bounced back from recession losses suffered during 10 months starting in May 1960, according to a study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

The survey of employment changes in the 4th Federal District concluded that differences in the amounts of decline reflected the number of jobs accounted for by manufacturing industries, especially durable goods and primary metals.

The greatest losers in terms of jobs were Youngstown-Warren and Pittsburgh and Canton, all areas that rely heavily on steel.

Other cities included in the survey were Cincinnati, Cleveland,

Akron and Toledo. The study covered non-agricultural payroll employment, which includes between 80 and 85 per cent of the labor force in the area and ranges from 100,000 in Canton to 750,000 in Pittsburgh.

With the exception of Columbus, the Federal Reserve report notes, each of these areas has a heavier concentration of manufacturing employment than the United States as a whole. Within the manufacturing sector there is a heavier concentration of jobs in durable goods manufacturing in all areas, except for Akron, than is true for the U. S.

Akron is a special case because it is dominated by the rubber industry, which is classified as nondurable goods, but follows the activity of the automobile industry. The latter is durable goods and directly affects Akron employment.

During the recession period—May 1960 to February 1961—declines in employment in the durable goods industries ranged from 6 to 18 per cent. Reductions in Canton and in Youngstown-Warren were at the top of the range. Within the durable goods sector, employment in primary metals industries dropped by more than 20 per cent during the recession period, a decline which was more severe than in any other group of durable goods industries.

The survey says both Columbus and Dayton have a high concentration of government employment. These two areas were the only ones to have fully recovered their recession losses in total non-agricultural wage and salary employment by September 1962.

However, only Columbus had higher manufacturing employment in September than it had in May 1960. This means recovery up to or beyond the pre-recession peak in total non-farm employment had to be accomplished by a greater increase in jobs in the non-manufacturing sector.

By September, all areas except Toledo and Canton had surpassed the level of May 1960 in non-manufacturing employment. But only in Dayton was the increase in non-manufacturing employment sufficient to compensate for a loss in manufacturing jobs to raise the overall level.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shadowy figure, believed to be a teen-ager with a twisted flair for chemistry, eluded police but left behind — in a storm sewer—a cache of materials believed connected with dozens of deliberately set fires.

It was a strange episode near mammoth Ohio Stadium Tuesday night as officers seemingly got hot on the track of the culprit believed responsible for more than a hundred garage fires in the Ohio State University area of Columbus North Side.

Arson squad experts at the Police Department today were analyzing a haul that included beakers, jars, gasoline, kerosene, gunpowder, shotgun shell casings, a hunk of giberboard and miscellaneous books and notebooks. Already obtained were fingerprints that may help solve a case that has baffled the police for months.

None of the fires caused personal injuries. But there has been some speculation among police that perhaps the arsonist had something to do with the September slaying of Mary Margaret Andrews, 19, in the university district—another case that has gone up nothing but blind alleys.

This is the way events unraveled around Olentangy River Road and West Lane Avenue Tuesday:

In the morning, Robert Smith, a shepherd at the university farms in the area, caught a fleeting glimpse of a youth, age perhaps between 14 and 18, coming out of a culvert that runs under Olentangy River Road to the river-side. He notified campus police.

The university officers went to the spot toward evening. One went down a hillside to the 4-foot-diameter opening at the west side of the culvert. He saw a light inside. Thinking it might be a reflection, he shone his flashlight into the culvert.

At this, the light inside vanished—but the officer thought he saw the shadowy figure. He went back to his car and radioed for more campus police. They entered the underground drain, and by the time they came out the east side, near the river, they had found the "chemistry laboratory."

But they found no person, although they also looked down connecting sewer passages.

Eventually, city police were called in Tuesday night, along with an Ohio State chemistry professor to size up the find.

Storemen Are Cited

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Three stores and four individuals have been charged with violating Ohio's Sunday closing law. Affidavits were filed against them Tuesday by John Wilson, an Erie County deputy sheriff, before Municipal Court Judge James A. Young.

Told to appear Dec. 7 to answer the charges were Giant Tiger Store, Wally's Food Town and Pic-away Show Mart, plus four clerks in the stores.

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs reported expenditures in behalf of all candidates for public office in 1960 totaled $165 to $175 million.

About 150 foreign correspondents covered the 1960 national presidential conventions.

Unions Study Proposals on Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two unions were studying issues and proposals today as negotiators sought to unravel a dispute over new contracts that shut down Cleveland's two daily newspapers six days ago.

A spokesman for the Cleveland Newspaper Guild said a newly worded proposal on the job security issue was presented by publishers' representatives in a four-hour session Tuesday night. Union negotiators and representatives of the Plain Dealer and the Press and News met in the federal mediation offices with Gilbert J. Seldin, a mediator.

Earlier in the day negotiations with Teamsters Local 473, representing 405 delivery drivers, were recessed after what Seldin called a fruitful session. Seldin said the talks were recessed subject to call and that the two sides will prepare alternate proposals on some issues for consideration at a future session.

More talks with Newspaper Guild representatives were scheduled today at 4 p.m.

The publishers scheduled contract talks today with the Typographical Union—the first negotiations with this union since the strike started Thursday night.

Management must negotiate contracts with other craft unions also, but a source close to the negotiations called the Typographical Union a key group in the current round of talks.

Two Are Injured In Car-Bus Crash

MARION, Ohio (AP)—An automobile and a nearby empty school bus collided east of here Tuesday killing Mrs. Mildred Butler, 40, of Smithfield (Jefferson County) and severely injuring her minister husband and another minister.

The Rev. S. M. Butler, was listed in poor condition in Marion General Hospital after the accident on U.S. 305 five miles from the city. The Rev. Esau Williams, 44, of Pittsburgh was reported in fair condition in the hospital.

The bus driver, Joe Cox, 47, of Rt. 1, Edison, and his only passenger at the time, Cindy Yoe-man, about 6, were not injured seriously.

Cincy Officer Now Facing Traffic Count

CINCINNATI (AP)—Patrolman Charles Hunt, already disciplined by a department inquiry board for speeding in his private car, now faces Traffic Court.

City Manager C. A. Harrell Tuesday ordered Safety Director Oris Hamilton to have Hunt cited to court in the controversial case. Harrell's order was part of a report to City Council whose members angrily had called for an investigation of the incident.

Hunt, 32, a veteran of 11 years on the force with a record of excellence in tracking down speeders himself, was off-duty when stopped for speeding Nov. 23.

Hamilton and Police Chief Stanley Schrotel elected to hold a department hearing in the case instead of citing Hunt to Traffic Court.

Hunt was ordered to work 10 off-days without pay, was given a reprimand and transferred to duty in the slum-pocked west end district.

Hamilton and Schrotel added memos to Harrell's report Tuesday, contending the department hearing was by far the better way to handle the case.

Hamilton said citing Hunt to Traffic Court after the department hearing and penalties would subject him to double jeopardy in violation of the state and federal constitutions.

Lima Youth Faces Murder Accusation

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year-old Lima youth faced a second-degree murder charge today after his stepfather received a fatal bullet through the heart.

Prosecutor Robert Balyeat said he would file the charge today against Grover Pugh Jr., 29, in the death of Cheney Alexander, about 42.

The shooting occurred Tuesday night in the upstairs apartment where both resided.

Derby

Several from here attended the Pickaway county Prince of Peace contest at the Derby church Sunday afternoon. The Derby entrant was Miss Cindy Liff.

The Blissful Class of Derby held its Christmas meeting Wednesday evening of this week.

The Derby M. Y. F. members met at the church on Sunday night.

Mr. John Looney has been ill the past week. He is unable to work.

Mrs. Nelle Bauhan has as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Redman of near Reynoldsburg.

Mrs. Marvene Furniss underwent surgery in Mt. Carmel Hospital. She is in room 741.

Mrs. Virgie Higgins has as Thursday supper guests Mr. and Mrs. William Deyo of Harrisburg and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell.

On Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gossard and Mike had as supper guests Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Spangler and Mr. and Mrs. George Rice and Jackie. The occasion was the first birthday of twin daughters Sherri Mae and Terry Kay.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes of Athens spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Virgie Higgins, and visited other relatives in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Philips moved here the past week from Mt. Sterling to the Floyd Mouser property.

Cincy Officer Now Facing Traffic Count

CINCINNATI (AP)—Patrolman Charles Hunt, already disciplined by a department inquiry board for speeding in his private car, now faces Traffic Court.

City Manager C. A. Harrell Tuesday ordered Safety Director Oris Hamilton to have Hunt cited to court in the controversial case. Harrell's order was part of a report to City Council whose members angrily had called for an investigation of the incident.

Hunt, 32, a veteran of 11 years on the force with a record of excellence in tracking down speeders himself, was off-duty when stopped for speeding Nov. 23.

Hamilton and Police Chief Stanley Schrotel elected to hold a department hearing in the case instead of citing Hunt to Traffic Court.

Hunt was ordered to work 10 off-days without pay, was given a reprimand and transferred to duty in the slum-pocked west end district.

Hamilton and Schrotel added memos to Harrell's report Tuesday, contending the department hearing was by far the better way to handle the case.

Hamilton said citing Hunt to Traffic Court after the department hearing and penalties would subject him to double jeopardy in violation of the state and federal constitutions.

Lima Youth Faces Murder Accusation

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year-old Lima youth faced a second-degree murder charge today after his stepfather received a fatal bullet through the heart.

Prosecutor Robert Balyeat said he would file the charge today against Grover Pugh Jr., 20, in the death of Cheney Alexander, about 42.

Mrs. Burnell Karshner, Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Mrs. Earl DeLong, Mrs. Ray Poling and Mrs. Adam Schaaf attended the Ross County Home Demonstration Club Fair Friday at Chillicothe.

Miss Helen Mettler returned home last week after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Millions of Columbus.

Mr. Phillip Swackhamer entered Berger Hospital Sunday evening after suffering a heart attack.

Curtis D. Hinton underwent an appendectomy at Berger hospital last week.

Herbert Flannigan of Route 1 has been a patient in Logan Hospital since he suffered a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Edwards of Lancaster are parents of a son born in Lancaster Hospital, Nov. 27. The new arrival is the fourth boy for the Edwards'. Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards of Laurelville is the paternal grandmother.

Mrs. Thomas Rose underwent major surgery at University Hospital, Columbus, last Monday.

Miss Celesta Hoy spent last Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swackhamer of Groveport. Mrs. Swackhamer's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Swackhamer, died on Tuesday in Grant Hospital where she had been taken after suffering a broken hip in a fall at her home.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe Clouse of Somerset visited Sunday afternoon with her aunt, Mrs. Daisy Strous.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds attended a Fellowship meeting at the First ME church in Lancaster last Wednesday evening.

APPLIES U. OF ALA.—Vivian Malone (above), a student at all-Negro Alabama A. & M., is awaiting action on her application to attend the University of Alabama. The university has other applications from Negroes as well. The only Negro to be admitted to the 131-year-old institution was Autherine Lucy, by court order, who was expelled after three days for statements that university officials allowed rioting.

Physician, 75, Is Charged

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 75-year-old physician charged with first-degree manslaughter in the death of a patient in his office said the woman's death was a "sad mistake" and something "I'll have to live with all my life."

Dr. Arthur W. Lair pleaded innocent when arraigned Tuesday before Municipal Court Judge Bernard Ostrovsky. Bond was set at $25,000, and Judge Ostrovsky continued the case, setting a hearing for Dec. 19.

Mrs. Joan Dileo, 25, of Highland Heights was the second woman to die in the doctor's office in less than a month. She died Monday while undergoing a plastic surgery operation, according to Louis Orkin, Cleveland Heights prosecutor.

The coroner's office said it would be several days before the cause of death is determined.

Mrs. Virginia Stewart, 49, died in Dr. Lair's office Nov. 15. The coroner ruled Mrs. Stewart died because she was allergic to xylocaine, an anesthetic.

Anti-Castroites Land in Jail

Guerrilla Band Labeled As Adventure Group

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Thirteen anti-Castro sympathizers sat in jail today 90 miles from Cuba, charged with violating the Neutrality Act.

The 13 including two Cubans and a Canadian—were picked up early Tuesday on a tiny island in the Florida Keys and accused of preparing an expedition against Cuba.

U.S. Commissioner William V. Albury called the 13, 10 of whom are American citizens, "just an adventure group that could get our country into trouble."

Albury ordered the 13 turned over to U.S. District Court in Miami, Fla., and held them on $1,000 bond each.

In reply to the charges, one of the group, James A. Lewis, 29, of San Francisco, Calif., asked, "Does it matter who violates neutrality, the government or us?"

"We have no name and belong to no other anti-Castro faction," said the apparent leader of the group, Gerald Patrick Hemming Jr., 25, Los Angeles, Calif. Hemming indicated, however, he knew of other anti-Castro groups training in the Keys.

The Cubans identified themselves as Eleno O. Alvares, 26, and Remigio Arce, 43, both of Miami. The Canadian was William J. Dempsey, 21, Stratford, Ont.

The others, all identified as U.S. citizens were Ronald P. Ponce De Leon, 22, Lawrence J. Howard Jr., 27, Pico Rivera, Calif., Edwin A. Collins, 27, Justin J. Wilson, 26, William Seynorr, 25, Edmund Colby, 31, and Joseph C. Garman, 32, all of a single Miami address, and Roy E. Hargraves, 22, also of Miami.

Chamber Welcomes Directors; DeLong Named Vice President

New directors are Judge William Ammer, Douglas Cotterman, Dan C. Crabtree, Dale DeLong, Walter Garner, R. C. Palm and Richard Shaw. DeLong was named vice president for the coming term.

DALE DELONG

The new incoming president is David L. Yates who succeeds Charles Schieber. Yates served as vice president before assuming the top Chamber post. Mrs. E. R. Bennett was rehired as executive secretary for the coming year.

Appointed by President Yates to serve on with him on the committee on committees were DeLong, L. D. Varble, Dr. David Goldschmidt and Mrs. Bennett. This group will report in January.

IT WAS announced that the Chamber's Christmas Lighting contest will be held again this year. There will be a total of $100 in cash prizes.

The lighting contest will feature four categories for judging. They are: 1. best overall decoration; 2. best religious theme; 3. best decorated door, doorway or lamp post; 4. best new or novel idea.

Charles W. Allton represented the Junior Chamber at the meeting. He said the Santa Claus Parade this year was bigger and better than ever, thanks to the cooperation of local merchants.

Allton said more than 1,600 children already have visited Santa Claus at his headquarters on W. Main St. since his arrival here Nov. 23.

Dr. Goldschmidt, program chairman, announced that the Annual Meeting is scheduled Jan. 29 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building. Arrangements are being made to bring a prominent guest speaker here for the event.

Directors leaving the Chamber Board following two-year terms are W. Joe Burns, Michael Harrison, Gene Lindsey, Eldred Parsons, Howard Smith, L. D. Varble and Paul White.

Rotary-Anne Party Scheduled Thursday

The Circleville Rotary Club will observe its annual Rotary-Anne Party Thursday at the Episcopal Parish House.

A special program has been prepared particularly for the entertainment of lady guests. This event will start at 6:30 p. m.

Rotary members unable to attend the evening session may register at the usual meeting place, the BPO Elks Home, noon Thursday.

Dense Smog Grips London

Health Threat Rises, Many Late for Work

LONDON (AP)—A dense blanket of sulphurous yellow smog gripped the British capital for the second day today, raising a threat to health and making thousands late for work.

As commuter trains crawled toward the heart of the city, health authorities warned that babies and old people should be kept at home.

"The situation is potentially serious," said a spokesman for the Medical Research Council. "Smog particularly affects the very young, the very old and people with weak hearts or chests."

London's last great exposure to smog was in 1957 when 1,000 people died from chest and heart ailments during a three-day siege. Ten years ago the toll from an eight-day smog was at least 4,000, and by some estimates 12,000.

The capital's great airport was still idle after some 30 hours of inactivity. Shipping was tied up on the River Thames and cars were abandoned across the whole metropolitan area. Rail schedules had been discarded.

Fog blanketed much of the rest of England and spread into the south of Scotland.

In London, the sulphur dioxide content in the atmosphere was six times normal and the smoke concentration nine times its usual level.

Closing Action Halted

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Xenia's city commission has decided to rescind its decision to begin stringent enforcement of Sunday closing Dec. 9. Instead, the commission resolved Tuesday to seek every available means of getting the state legislature to clarify the "blue laws."

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Ohio's Indian Summer weather has come to an abrupt end after 11 days with no precipitation.

A cold front pushed eastward through the state Tuesday night. Tuesday, dropped to the 30s and low 40s by early today.

Dayton and Cincinnati reported 38, Toledo 39, Columbus 43 and Cleveland 44.

It will be cloudy and windy today with occasional light rain. Some cloudiness tonight may drop a few snow flurries as temperatures drop below freezing.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 38-39, normal low 23-27. Colder Thursday through first of next week, only minor day-to-day changes. Precipitation will average about one-half inch in melted snow flurries tonight and Thursday, periods of snow about Saturday and Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 39-48, normal low 24-31. Continued rather cold with only minor changes through Monday. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch in rain or snow most likely Friday night or Saturday, again Sunday night or Monday.

Fayette Historian Dies

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Robert S. Harper, widely known Ohio historian, and official of the Ohio Historical Society and former managing editor of the old Ohio State Journal, died of a heart ailment today in Fayette Memorial Hospital here.

He had made his home in Staunton near here, commuting to his work at the society's office in Columbus.

House Committee Move Set On Eve of Congress Opening

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moves to "liberalize" two major House committees—Rules and Ways and Means—may get the new Congress off to a battling start next month.

On their success or failure depends the fate of much of President Kennedy's domestic legislative program.

Administration spokesmen disclosed privately today that they would fight to keep the membership of the powerful Rules Committee at 15. The committee will revert to its original 12-man size in the new House unless the House votes for the larger number.

Membership was increased to 15 two years ago in a bid to add liberal votes and thus break the grip a conservative coalition had held for years.

The committee now is composed of 10 Democrats and five Republicans, with eight liberal Democrats normally—but not always—in control. Under the 12-man arrangement, a conservative coalition of two Southern Democrats, Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, often teamed with the four Republican members to block administration bills.

The Rules Committee is a clearing house for bills approved by other committees. Without its approval, it is extremely difficult for a bill to reach the House floor. Even the enlarged committee blocked some Kennedy-backed bills.

The enlargement was a prestige battle between the late Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Chairman Smith. Rayburn won by a vote of only 217 to 212.

Unless a compromise is reached to avert another fight, the outcome next month may be a toss-up.

Leaders of both warring groups privately claim they have the votes. Both concede that the result may hinge on new members elected last month. There will be 33 new Democrats and 31 new Republicans in the new house.

Conservative leaders claim the election added to their strength. Liberal spokesmen insist the opposite is true.

The Ways and Means Committee "liberalization" movement is not tied directly to the rules controversy but has a bearing on it. The committee this year sidetracked the President's medical care bill and defeated by one vote his new unemployment compensation program.

There will be two Democratic vacancies next year and liberals are backing Reps. Pat Jennings, Virginia Democrat, and Ross Bass, Tennessee Democrat, for the seats now held by two conservative Democrats.

Nuclear Ship Tied Up by Labor Dispute

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The nuclear ship Savannah, whose reactors can carry it whole circuits of the globe without refueling, is tied up here today by a labor dispute.

The gleaming white freighter has been idled by a controversy over wages paid its engineers. They are specially trained nuclear experts, and can't be replaced in a union hiring hall like most crewmen.

The $53.5-million ship was to have started Tuesday on an 8-day training cruise—to train new engineers.

According to one story—by the Baltimore Sun's maritime editor, Helen Delich—29 nuclear reactor engineers aboard the Savannah have quit, but are staying aboard for safety reasons, until other engineers can be found to mind the potent reactor deep in the Savannah's engine room.

The engineers are members of the AFL-CIO affiliated Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, and sources here said the issue is being negotiated in New York headquarters.

James McKinley, port agent for the National Maritime Union, said the engineers said they were dissatisfied with salary provisions established by an arbitration board before the vessel left Yorktown, Va., on its maiden voyage four months ago.

The Savannah is operated jointly by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the States Marine Line, with the line handling all labor matters.

Parties Make Surprise Bid To Unseat German Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP)—The conservative Free Democrats scheduled a meeting with leaders of the opposition Socialists today in a surprise bid to form a right-left coalition to unseat Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

West Germany's serious political crisis showed no sign of solution. Adenauer and his Christian Democrats discussed coalition with Socialist leaders Tuesday but reached no decision.

A communique said that they discussed "future political cooperation." Half the Socialist members of Parliament were reported opposed to a coalition with the Christian Democrats unless Adenauer retired.

The unresolved crisis, touched off originally by the walkout of Free Democrats from the government as a result of the Spiegel affair, has put Adenauer in one of the toughest spots of his political career.

A union of Free Democrats and Socialists would mean an end to the 86-year-old Adenauer's rule. The Free Democrats, with 67 seats, hold the balance of power in the present Bundestag (lower house). Adenauer's Christian Democrats hold 241 seats and the Socialists 190.

A new arrest in the Spiegel case was announced while political leaders struggled to heal the breach caused by the crackdown on the weekly news magazine.

Lawyer Josef Augstein, a brother of Der Spiegel's publisher, was taken into custody Tuesday on suspicion of complicity in high treason.

The previous arrests of publisher Rudolf Augstein and members of his staff touched off the turmoil that caused the exit of the Free Democrats from the government and brought on the resignation of Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

The first arrests followed an article in the magazine charging that the 400,000-man armed force Strauss built up during his six years in office was incapable of stopping any Soviet aggression. Critics charged that Strauss had sought revenge against the magazine, which had constantly opposed him. Strauss subsequently resigned, but efforts to patch up the coalition have so far been unsuccessful.

K of C Has Regular Meet

Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, conducted its regular meeting this week in the council rooms at Franklin and Pickaway Sts.

Out-of-town guests for the session were George Flynn, district deputy, Bernard Glockner, district warden, both of Portsmouth Council 741, and Donald Kaltenback of Flaget Council 1071, Chillicothe.

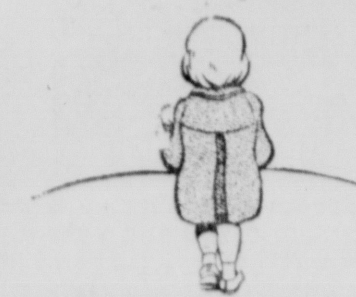

District Deputy Flynn congratulated the local council for winning first place for the third consecutive month in the state wide six-point program contest by participating in a program of activities in Catholic, fraternal, publicity, membership and insurance, council, and youth.

The local council announced its program for December which includes a request for donors to the Red Cross Bloodmobile, a Christmas dinner at Prairie Lanes on December 15 for members and their wives, and a talk by Democratic State Representative Ed Wallace at the lecturer's meeting on December 17.

GOING 'HOME'—Sent to Thailand last May at Thailand's request to help prevent the incursion of warring Laotian factions, men of the U.S. Army's First Battle Group, 35th Infantry, board a giant C-135 jet transport in Korat, bound for their home base in Hawaii. Joint Task Force 116 headquarters also is being phased out.

Single-Seizure "Epilepsy"

Dilated Chest Veins

Q. I am 25, rather well developed, and have two children, both of whom were breast-fed. Recently I have noticed that the veins over my chest stand out quite prominently. Would this have any medical meaning?

A. Many people have slightly dilated veins over the chest. These are of no medical significance. However, if the veins appeared recently and are greatly dilated, see your physician. He may decide to investigate.

Better Health Knowledge
Send questions to Science Editors,
P. O. Box 1174, Louisville 1, Ky.

Q. If a child has only one convulsion, what are the chances of his having others? Does one seizure indicate epilepsy?

A. Several things must be considered in dealing with seizures. Anyone, child or adult, who has a seizure should be examined by a physician. If no specific cause for the seizure can be uncovered, most doctors assume that the patient has "epilepsy." A Baltimore specialist recommends that the single-seizure child be given appropriate medication for a period of four years. Medication is then tapered off over a period of one or two years. This treatment is utilized to prevent possible recurrence and to help overcome the fear of a second seizure. In many cases, treatment beyond such a period is not necessary. The diagnosis of epilepsy is not considered in a young child who has a short seizure with high temperature. Single febrile seizures of this sort usually do not recur after four or five years of age.

Dispensing prescribed medicine is what we do best . . . do promptly . . . and do at reasonable cost. Trust your health to your doctor—trust his prescriptions to us.

Guerrilla Band Labeled As Adventure Group

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Thirteen anti-Castro sympathizers sat in jail today 90 miles from Cuba, charged with violating the Neutrality Act.

The 13 including two Cubans and a Canadian—were picked up early Tuesday on a tiny island in the Florida Keys and accused of preparing an expedition against Cuba.

U.S. Commissioner William V. Albury called the 13, 10 of whom are American citizens, "just an adventure group that could get our country into trouble."

Albury ordered the 13 turned over to U.S. District Court in Miami, Fla., and held them on $1,000 bond each.

In reply to the charges, one of the group, James A. Lewis, 29, of San Francisco, Calif., asked, "Does it matter who violates neutrality, the government or us?"

"We have no name and belong to no other anti-Castro faction," said the apparent leader of the group, Gerald Patrick Hemming Jr., 25, Los Angeles, Calif. Hemming indicated, however, he knew of other anti-Castro groups training in the Keys.

The Cubans identified themselves as Eleno O. Alvarez, 26, and Remigio Arce, 43, both of Miami. The Canadian was William J. Dempsey, 21, Stratford, Ont.

The others, all identified as U.S. citizens were Ronald P. Ponce De Leon, 22, Lawrence J. Howard Jr., 27, Pico Rivera, Calif., Edwin A. Collins, 27, Justin J. Wilson, 26, William Seynour, 25, Edmund Colby, 31, and Joseph C. Garman, 32, all of a single Miami address, and Roy E. Hargraves, 22, also of Miami.

Chamber Welcomes Directors; DeLong Named Vice President

New directors are Judge William Ammer, Douglas Cotterman, Dan C. Crabtree, Dale DeLong, Walter Garner, R. C. Palm and Richard Shaw. DeLong was named vice president for the coming term.

DALE DELONG

The new incoming president is David L. Yates who succeeds Charles Schieber. Yates served as vice president before assuming the top Chamber post. Mrs. E. R. Bennett was rehired as executive secretary for the coming year.

Appointed by President Yates to serve on with him on the committee on committees were DeLong, L. D. Varble, Dr. David Goldschmidt and Mrs. Bennett. This group will report in January.

IT WAS announced that the Chamber's Christmas Lighting contest will be held again this year. There will be a total of $100 in cash prizes.

The lighting contest will feature four categories for judging. They are: 1. best overall decoration; 2. best religious theme; 3. best decorated door, doorway or lamp post; 4. best new or novel idea.

Charles W. Allton represented the Junior Chamber at the meeting. He said the Santa Claus Parade this year was bigger and better than ever, thanks to the cooperation of local merchants.

Allton said more than 1,600 children already have visited Santa Claus at his headquarters on W. Main St. since his arrival here Nov. 23.

Dr. Goldschmidt, program chairman, announced that the Annual Meeting is scheduled Jan. 29 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building. Arrangements are being made to bring a prominent guest speaker here for the event.

Directors leaving the Chamber Board following two-year terms are W. Joe Burns, Michael Harrison, Gene Lindsey, Eldred Parsons, Howard Smith, L. D. Varble and Paul White.

Triple-Threat Soph Named Class A Grid Back of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "little fellow" footballers were honored today as the Associated Press named its 1962 Class A All-Ohio high school football team.

The players, selected by coaches, officials and sports writers, come from some 150 schools with 180 or fewer boys.

A sophomore triple-threat performer from Frankfort was lauded as the Back of the Year. Joe Yager, a 185-pound, 5-10 speedster, won the accolade, based on some grid heroics that are hard to believe.

Arnie Gabriel, Logan Elm's bruising junior fullback, received honorable mention on the Associated Press Class A All-Ohio football balloting.

Gabriel was an All-Scioto Valley Conference selection as linebacker and one of three Logan Elm Players to receive the school's award to the football player with the highest scholastic record.

A 3.5 student, Yager also lettered in basketball, track and baseball and is president of the sophomore class.

Jack Rospert, offensive guard and linebacker for Norwalk St. Paul, won the lineman of the year honor. Rospert, a 17-year-old senior, stands 6-1 and 185. He led his team in tackles and blocked five punts on defense.

Other backs named on the smaller school dream team are quarterback Jim Morrison of Akron St. Mary and backs Larry Coomer of Cardington and Ron Grieshop of Coldwater.

Morrison connected on 75 passes in 130 tries for 1,279 yards and 18 touchdowns; Coomer scored 164 points to boost his four-year career total to 519 points; and Grieshop, a two-way performer, tallied 126 points.

The offensive ends are George Maurer of Columbus St. Mary and Neal Esmonde, Pandora; tackles Joe Aul, Strasburg and Bob Moor, Delta; guards Rospert and Gary West, Fairfield Union and center Dave Finkbeiner, Maumee Valley Country Day. The latter is one of the few private school players ever to make an All-Ohio team.

because of the intense competition.

Among them are Ken Brown of Tiltonsville, who gained 1,092 yards in 94 carries; Carl Ruhl of Bellville, 1,473 yards in 130 runs; Dan Yocheim of Smithville, 140 points and Chop Ullman of Fort Frye, an outstanding runner and defensive interior lineman.

Teays Valley, Logan Elm Top Local Cagers

Teays Valley 2-0, and Logan Elm 1-0 are the only two undefeated basketball teams in the Pickaway County Area.

However, Williamsport has the largest number of wins to its credit with five in seven outings. The Deers are closely followed by Kingston and Centralia with four wins and two losses each.

Last week the Centralia unit led area teams with four wins but the Ross County quintet dropped close scoring games to Huntington and Logan Elm on successive nights.

Two Cage Fixers Facing Sentence

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A St. Louis man, described as a financial ramrod in the basketball game-fixing scandal, and his key lieutenant faced sentencing today on multiple bribery charges.

Appearing before Judge Heman Clark in Wake Superior Court were Dave Goldberg, 46 and Steve Lekometros, 39.

They were convicted Tuesday at the close of a 10-day trial of bribing North Carolina State College basketball players to dump or shave points in eight games between December, 1959, and January, 1961.

Both took the verdicts impassively. Goldberg was convicted on 18 counts and Lekometros on 14. Each charge carried a maximum penalty of five years.

Staubach Says Name Not Akin To Pirate Flag

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Roger Staubach, Navy's Jolly Roger who says his first name had nothing to do with those Pirate flags the Midshipmen wore on their helmets in routing Army last Saturday, is already thinking about next football season.

He's planning to skip basketball, one of his favorite sports, in order to practice weightlifting and try to add some muscle to his arms and chest and some weight to his 6-foot-2, 193-pound frame.

Perish the thought, Army, but he thinks it will make him more effective. "I'll be stronger," he says.

The 20-year-old sophomore quarterback from Cincinnati was chosen by The Associated Press Tuesday as its Back of the Week for his four touchdown performance in Navy's 34-14 shellacking of Army.

He passed for two touchdowns and ran for two others, gained a total of 222 yards passing and running, and wound up the season with a total offense of 1,231 yards in seven games—only 177 yards shy of the academy record set by George Welsh in nine games as a senior in 1955.

Being named Back-of-the-Week was Roger's first national recognition, although he was chosen an All-America quarterback in high school at Cincinnati Purcell and in junior college at New Mexico Military Institute, which he attended for one year before entering Navy.

"It's quite an honor to be picked from all these fine football players in the country, but it's especially nice after an Army-Navy game," the young midshipman said of his designation.

One of Navy's psychological tricks to offset the publicity buildup of Army's Chinese bandit defensive unit was a skull and crossbones painted on the front of each Navy helmet, a copy of the Jolly Roger pirates would hoist just before boarding a ship.

Staubach said the Navy players didn't know about the helmets until five minutes before gametime, but the team got a lift from them. They were the brainchild of Navy Coach Wayne Hardin and equipment manager Ray Novelli.

Long Beach Rolling In ABL Flag Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's going to take someone with a long reach to overtake Long Beach in the American Basketball League race.

The Chiefs, rolling over the opposition with ease, won their 11th game in 12 starts Tuesday night, beating second-place Pittsburgh 121-100 and increasing their edge over the Rens to four games. In the only other ABL game scheduled, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 113-87.

Bobcats Start Slow, Downed By Louisville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took Ohio University's Bobcats a little too long to get going in their basketball opener and they fell victim to perennially tough Louisville 58-54 in the feature of Tuesday night's Buckeye State collegiate card.

The Mid-American Conference club, playing before 5,500 friendly fans at Athens, managed only one field goal the first 15 minutes and four in 30 tries the first half. That put the Bobcats in a 30-18 hole, and Louisville fended off belated comeback bids, the last one cutting a 12-point deficit to the final narrow gap.

Jerry Jackson of Ohio U. copped scoring honors with 17 points.

In the Ohio Conference, an experienced Hiram team served notice it may be a factor in the race while highly regarded Akron survived a scare.

Hiram's Terriers bopped Otterbein 87-64 behind Ken Rowen's 26 points and Bill Meyer's 24, climbing to a 2-0 league—and season—record. Akron, now boasting a similar won-lost status, had to resort to a stall to thwart a Capital rally and win 62-59 at Columbus. Cap had cut a 10-point Zip lead, built largely by Wyatt Webb's 20 points, to just two with 2½ minutes left.

In another OC tiff, Denison whipped Wooster 69-58 by overcoming the Scots' pressing tactics. Baldwin-Wallace stepped outside the circuit and doubled the score on Lawrence Tech of Detroit, 96-48.

In independent action, Case nosed out Cleveland rival Fenn 65-64 when Dave Ollar sank a jump shot in the final second, Central Ted Day scored 24 and Jerry Cummings 21 for the Marauders, and defense went out the window as West Virginia State crushed Wilberforce 108-72.

Memorial Awards Go to Denison, B-W Footballers

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Conference Sports Publicity Association has announced that Tom Hall of Denison and Tom Goosby of Baldwin-Wallace are the 1962 winners of the annual Mike Gregor Memorial Awards.

Hall, a Kettering product who set a league record in total offense with 1,321 yards, was named the best back and Goosby, only player to make both offensive and defensive all-conference teams, was tabbed the best lineman.

The awards are presented on the basis of a vote by league coaches. This year's winners have had only one ear in Ohio Conference competition.

Goosby, from Alliance, helped boost B-W's Yellow Jackets to a 7-1-1 mark during their first year in the league. He is a senior. Hall, a junior, transferred to Denison from Ohio State.

YOUNGEST IN TOURNEY—Rickey Lunsted, 9-year-old 50-pounder, was the youngest competitor in a boxing tournament in North Vancouver, B.C.

Much Sought Soph, Vet Coach Share College Cage Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An 18-year-old sophomore sought by over 60 colleges who is shaking the staid Ivy League, and a 67-year-old coach who has been overworking a large red towel for some 40 years. That's the unlikely combination sharing today's college basketball spotlight.

The sophomore sensation is young Bill Bradley, a 6-foot-5 product of Crystal City, Mo., who turned his back on his own backyard and wound up at Princeton. He scored 28 points in his first game and came back with 27 Tuesday night in the Tigers' 68-53 victory over Villanova.

The old man is Western Kentucky Coach Ed Diddle, who has been at the Ohio Valley Conference school for 41 years. He displayed all his towel-flapping tricks as the Hilltoppers wrote his 750th triumph into the record books by blasting Texas Wesleyan 101-66.

Bucking for a place in the spotlight were two of the nation's top ten pre-season choices—second-ranked Duke, which rolled over South Carolina 95-63 in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash, and sixth-rated Mississippi State, 90-55 conqueror of Arkansas A&M in its season debut.

In two Southern Conference games on a schedule heavy with intersectional and inter-conference contests, Virginia Tech downed Richmond 76-68 for its 37th consecutive home court victory and defending league champion West Virginia opened conference play with a 100-74 triumph over VMI.

Elsewhere, Notre Dame beat Michigan State 92-85 after a basket by soph Jay Miller broke a tie, Laverne Tart led Bradley on a 90-57 waltz past North Dakota, Oklahoma set a school scoring record in a 96-83 decision over SMU, Vanderbilt outclassed Rice 80-68 and Oregon edged Washington 59-57 on a pair of foul shots by Elliott Gleason with 30 seconds left.

Area Schools Are Scheduled For 11-Game Cage Card

Eight basketball games have been scheduled Friday night by Pickaway County and area high school hardwood teams, while three games are on tap for Saturday night.

Heading the list of Friday encounters is the Pickaway County League tilt between Logan Elm and Williamsport.

Glenn Chester's Deers have established themselves as a county threat with five wins and two losses in seven outings, while the Braves, coached by Keith Merin, have won the first game they played.

Williamsport's experience and home floor advantage should provide a slight edge.

* AREA scoring leader Rick Fenstermaker, who has tallied 128 points this year, heads the Deers' offense. Other scoring threats on the team include Rick Pond, who has 108, and Bruce Willis with 90 points in seven games.

Logan Elm has such stalwarts returning this year as big Dannie Hicks, a 6-5 senior at center, Bob Parker, 6-2 senior forward and Gary Hardman.

All three of these players saw plenty of action on last year's Logan Elm squad that went all way to the Regional finals at Athens. Hicks and Hardman were starters during tournament play while Parker was a top sub.

Another county league game which should provide plenty of action pits Darby and Jackson at Jackson. The Wildcats have a 2-3 slate this year while Darby has won one game in five starts.

Charlie Brown is the scoring kingpin in the Darby attack, he has 109 points, while southpaw Ed Martindale paces Jackson with 108 points.

Nebraska Eleven To Face Miami In Gotham Bowl

NEW YORK (AP)—Rugged Nebraska will oppose Miami of Florida in the second Gotham Bowl football game Dec. 15, rescuing the post-season contest with time running short.

The match was completed Tuesday night when the Board of Regents and the Big Eight Conference approved acceptance of the bid voted by the Nebraska players.

Bowl officials were pleased by the acquisition of both the Miami Hurricanes, 7-3, and the Cornhuskers, 8-2, who are among the nation's top ten teams in passing and rushing, respectively.

Less than 15,000 fans watched Baylor defeat previously unbeaten Utah State in the first Gotham Bowl game last year. The event had been scheduled to get off the ground in 1960 but failed to make it.

Willie Shoemaker has ridden in the last seven Garden State Stakes but didn't win the race until 1961 when he scored with Crismson Satan. This year he won the race with Crewwan.

Triple-Threat Soph Named Class A Grid Back of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "little fellow" footballers were honored today as the Associated Press named its 1962 Class A All-Ohio high school football team.

The players, selected by coaches, officials and sports writers, come from some 150 schools with 180 or fewer boys.

A sophomore triple-threat performer from Frankfort was lauded as the Back of the Year. Joe Yager, a 185-pound, 5-10 speedster, won the accolade, based on some grid heroics that are hard to believe.

Arnie Gabriel, Logan Elm's bruising junior fullback, received honorable mention on the Associated Press Class A All-Ohio football balloting.

Gabriel was an All-Scioto Valley Conference selection as line-backer and one of three Logan Elm Players to receive the school's award to the football player with the highest scholastic record.

The 15-year-old star scored 124 points, carried 138 times for 805 yards, did all the passing, punting, kicking off, and averaged 15 tackles a game on defense.

A 3.5 student, Yager also lettered in basketball, track and baseball and is president of the sophomore class.

Jack Rospert, offensive guard and linebacker for Norwalk St. Paul, won the lineman of the year honor. Rospert, a 17-year-old senior, stands 6-1 and 185. He led his team in tackles and blocked five punts on defense.

Other backs named on the smaller school dream team are quarterback Jim Morrison of Akron St. Mary and backs Larry Coomer of Cardington and Ron Grieshop of Coldwater.

Morrison connected on 75 passes in 130 tries for 1,279 yards and 18 touchdowns; Coomer scored 164 points to boost his four-year career total to 519 points; and Grieshop, a two-way performer, tallied 126 points.

The offensive ends are George Maurer of Columbus St. Mary and Neal Esmonde, Pandora; tackles Joe Aul, Strasburg and Bob Moor, Delta; guards Rospert and Gary West, Fairfield Union and center Dave Finkbeiner, Maumee Valley Country Day. The latter is one of the few private school players ever to make an All-Ohio team.

A flock of fine offensive stars were relegated to the defensive unit or honorable mention status because of the intense competition.

Among them are Ken Brown of Tiltonsville, who gained 1,092 yards in 94 carries; Carl Ruhl of Bellville, 1,473 yards in 130 runs; Dan Yocheim of Smithville, 140 points and Chop Ullman of Fort Frye, an outstanding runner and defensive interior lineman.

In the Ohio Conference, an experienced Hiram team served no tice it may be a factor in the race while highly regarded Akron survived a scare.

Hiram's Terriers bopped Otterbein 87-64 behind Ken Rowen's 26 points and Bill Meyer's 24, climbing to a 2-0 league—and season—record. Akron, now boasting a similar won-lost status, had to resort to a stall to thwart a Capital rally and win 62-59 at Columbus. Cap had cut a 10-point Zip lead, built largely by Wyatt Webb's 20 points, to just two with 2½ minutes left.

In another OC tiff, Denison whipped Wooster 69-58 by overcoming the Scots' pressing tactics. Baldwin-Wallace stepped outside the circuit and doubled the score on Lawrence Tech of Detroit, 96-48.

In independent action, Case nosed out Cleveland rival Fenn 65-64 when Dave Ollar sank a jump shot in the final second. Central Ted Day scored 24 and Jerry Cummings 21 for the Marauders, and defense went out the window as West Virginia State crushed Wilberforce 108-72.

Memorial Awards Go to Denison, B-W Footballers

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Conference Sports Publicity Association has announced that Tom Hall of Denison and Tom Goosby of Baldwin-Wallace are the 1962 winners of the annual Mike Gregor Memorial Awards.

Hall, a Kettering product who set a league record in total offense with 1,321 yards, was named the past back and Goosby, only player to make both offensive and defensive all-conference teams, was tabbed the best lineman.

The awards are presented on the basis of a vote by league coaches. This year's winners have had only one ear in Ohio Conference competition.

Much Sought Soph, Vet Coach Share College Cage Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An 18-year-old sophomore sought by over 60 colleges who is shaking the staid Ivy League, and a 67-year-old coach who has been overworking a large red towel for some 40 years. That's the unlikely combination sharing today's college basketball spotlight.

The sophomore sensation is young Bill Bradley, a 6-foot-5 product of Crystal City, Mo., who turned his back on his own backyard and wound up at Princeton. He scored 28 points in his first game and came back with 27 Tuesday night in the Tigers' 68-53 victory over Villanova.

The old man is Western Kentucky Coach Ed Diddle, who has been at the Ohio Valley Conference school for 41 years. He displayed all his towel-flapping tricks as the Hilltoppers wrote his 750th triumph into the record books by blasting Texas Wesleyan 101-66.

Bucking for a place in the spotlight were two of the nation's top ten pre-season choices—second-ranked Duke, which rolled over South Carolina 95-63 in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash, and sixth-ranked Mississippi State, 90-55 conqueror of Arkansas A&M in its season debut.

In two Southern Conference games on a schedule heavy with intersectional and inter-conference contests, Virginia Tech downed Richmond 76-68 for its 37th consecutive home court victory and defending league champion West Virginia opened conference play with a 100-74 triumph over VMI.

Elsewhere, Notre Dame beat Michigan State 92-85 after a basket by soph Jay Miller broke a tie. Laverne Tart led Bradley on a 90-57 waltz past North Dakota, Oklahoma set a school scoring record in a 96-83 decision over SMU, Vanderbilt outclassed Rice 80-68 and Oregon edged Washington 59-57 on a pair of foul shots by Elliott Gleason with 30 seconds left.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The most positive, stimulating news to emerge from network television in many a month is that NBC next season will sponsor a weekly dramatic anthology series of original dramas performed by a repertory company.

Richard Boone, a skillful actor, who for the past six years has been getting bored (and rich) in CBS' "Have Gun, Will Travel" will be lost and weekly performer in the series. Sometimes he will star, other times he will play the butler.

The regular company will be carefully chosen with the idea of making it a tight, smooth team under executive producer Mac Benoff, a television and stage writer.

Like icing to a good cake, Clifford Odets will serve as editor and sometimes writer of the scripts. Odets has never been involved in a television series before, but is a playwright with eminent credits, including "Waiting for Lefty," "Golden Boy" and "The Country Girl."

The series, to kick off next September, is a package by the Goodson-Todman organization, which has been so successful with its series of television game shows but which has been hankering to get into the area of drama. It will be filmed in Hollywood.

Benoff believes that by developing a working unit of actors, each one capable of playing a lead one week and a minor character the next, and by limiting the number of directors (he hopes to have no more than two) that he can produce something vital and meaty.

The prospect almost makes up for NBC's decision-announced almost sheepishly-to fill two Monday night hours the rest of this season with re-runs of six- and seven-year-old movies.

NBC's "Don't Call Me Charlie," will, as anticipated, be canceled late in January and its Friday night spot be taken by "The Price is Right," currently suffering a drop in audience pitted against CBS' Monday night comedy powerhouse.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 EST - Carol Lawrence and Johnny Mercer; "The Assassin," CBS, 10-11 - Circle Theatre dramatized actuality about a professional political killer.

Steve Brooks, a winning rider at the Garden State track, has ridden six horses in the Garden State Stakes but never won the race. This year he was second with In The Pocket.

White Dwells on Touch Game Popular with Kennedy Family

NEW YORK (AP)—Touch football, often called the sport of the New Frontier, was thrust suddenly into the fore of the National Football Foundation's annual Hall of Fame festivities by no less a personality than Byron (Whizzer) White, associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Justice White, a former All-America at the University of Colorado and later a professional star halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, received the foundation's Gold Medal Award for outstanding contribution to football Tuesday night.

While tracing the history of football from ancient times until the present, Justice White suddenly changed his theme.

"Then came a major development—the game of touch football was popularized by a family in Massachusetts," he said.

The crowd of more than 1,500, including President Kennedy's brothers, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Massachusetts Senator-elect Edward M. Kennedy, broke into laughter.

"The rules of the game are vague," continued Justice White and again the crowd laughed.

"The season begins in September on the banks of the Potomac and continues till May. Training is done on the sandy beaches of New England with the stipulation that the sand cannot be more than six inches in depth.

"I have never seen it because spectators are barred," he added, as the crowd roared again.

"But they say that even women are allowed to play.

"However, we will continue to watch developments of this game for some time to come."

Justice White, who was President Kennedy's first appointee to the Supreme Court, spoke out against the critics of football for demeaning the sport because of injuries.

"No game can carry on without accompanying dangers," he said.

Justice White also spoke out against "commercialization" and an uncontrolled "will to win."

Twelve new members were inducted into football's Hall of Fame.

Giants Plan To Use Some Young Players

These are some of the names Cleveland football fans may be hearing Sunday when the New York Giants, who have wrapped up the NFL's Eastern Division championship, entertain the Browns. Except for Guglielmi, the names probably are not familiar to man fans.

Giants coach Allie Sherman said Tuesday he planned to start his regular team against the Browns but added that he would work in the younger men as much as possible.

Guglielmi was in briefly during the opening game of the season when the Browns defeated the Giants 17-7. The Young quarter back was snowed under by blitzing Browns on a couple of plays and didn't have much opportunity to show what he can do.

Sherman said Counts is "one of the fastest men in football. We're going to use him at a flanker position, where he will eventually play for us."

Among others mentioned by Sherman as likely to get work: Bolin, a rookie guard from Mississippi Pesonen, a third-year halfback from Minnesota and Walker, a second-year guard from Michigan State.

White Dwells on Touch Game Popular with Kennedy Family

NEW YORK (AP)—Touch football, often called the sport of the New Frontier, was thrust suddenly into the fore of the National Football Foundation's annual Hall of Fame festivities by no less a personality than Byron (Whizzer) White, associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Justice White, a former All-America at the University of Colorado and later a professional star halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, received the foundation's Gold Medal Award for outstanding contribution to football Tuesday night.

While tracing the history of football from ancient times until the present, Justice White suddenly changed his theme.

"Then came a major development—the game of touch football was popularized by a family in Massachusetts," he said.

The crowd of more than 1,500, including President Kennedy's brothers, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Massachusetts Senator-elect Edward M. Kennedy, broke into laughter.

"The rules of the game are vague," continued Justice White and again the crowd laughed.

"The season begins in September on the banks of the Potomac and continues till May. Training is done on the sandy beaches of New England with the stipulation that the sand cannot be more than six inches in depth.

"I have never seen it because spectators are barred," he added, as the crowd roared again.

"But they say that even women are allowed to play.

"However, we will continue to watch developments of this game for some time to come."

Justice White, who was President Kennedy's first appointee to the Supreme Court, spoke out against the critics of football for demeaning the sport because of injuries.

"No game can carry on without accompanying dangers," he said.

Justice White also spoke out against "commercialization" and an uncontrolled "will to win."

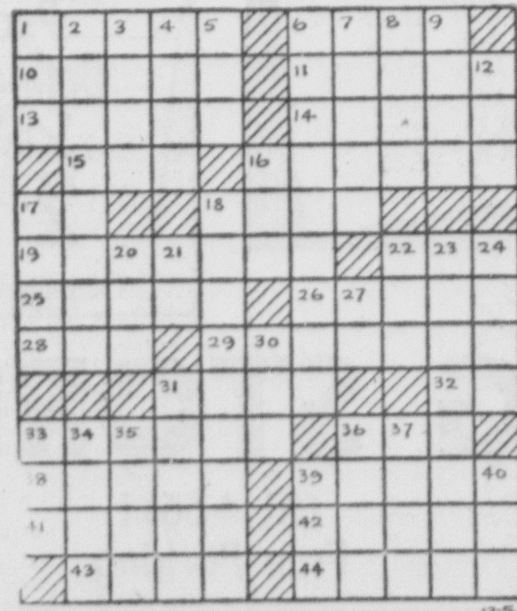

Twelve new members were inducted into football's Hall of Fame.

Liston Opposed To Promoters In Rematch

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston moved into his three-story mansion surrounded by a wrought iron fence and announced Championship Sports Inc., will not promote any of his future matches.

Liston and his wife, Geraldine, were busy moving into the 21-room "castle" recently vacated by jazz pianist Ahmad Jamal while the champ was holding a press conference Tuesday.

Liston, who won the title by kayoing Patterson in 2 minutes and 6 seconds of the first round in Comiskey Park last Sept. 25, said "If I meet Patterson again it will have to be under a different promotion and Baltimore stands a good chance of getting it."

Liston, who recently left Philadelphia in favor of Chicago, said if dethroned champion Floyd Patterson insists on that group as promoters of a return match, there will be no fight.

Liston said his adviser, Jack Nilon, would get in touch with Patterson in New York this week to discuss the details of a return match.

One of the reasons Liston wants no part of Championship Sports Inc., is because of the money. The champion explained the group gave him $25,000 for training expenses and $5,000 after the fight. But there remains a matter of $280,000 owed to him which the government has tied up.

sources for the article has raised speculation Stevenson was being subjected to the same kind of treatment some other officials have experienced.

There were apparently authoritative critical articles written about Chester Bowles a year ago before the President accepted his resignation as undersecretary of state and reassigned him to a special White House advisory role on foreign policy. Criticism also appeared about the work of Fowler Hamilton prior to his recent resignation as director of the Foreign Aid Administration. Reports that the President did not get on well with West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe came out in advance of the disclosure that Grewe was being recalled some months ago.

Against this background Washington newsmen and officials immediately saw a potential significance in the publication of a report that Stevenson was a dissenter on the first and most important administration decision for meeting the Soviet challenge in Cuba.

The White House denial and Stevenson's own declaration that he supported the blockade measure have only partially succeeded in dealing with the issues.

Some administration officials say Kennedy was personally disturbed by the widespread assumption that Stevenson was on the skids and it was learned that Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary George Ball were upset. Both were described by associates as strongly pro-Stevenson.

Persons familiar with the Cuban policy discussions said the President encouraged full exploration of the whole range of possible U.S. responses to the Soviet challenge—from immediate action in the United Nations to immediate invasion of Cuba.

The decision to impose a naval arms blockade fell somewhere in the middle of the range of suggested possibilities and was based on the agreement among the President and his top advisers that a limited use of force would allow Premier Khrushchev an opportunity to back down. It was understood that if he did not, stronger measures would be taken.

There seems to be no doubt that throughout the discussion Stevenson maintained the need for maximum U. S. reliance, as he saw it, on the United Nations and on the Organization of American States in dealing with the Cuban crisis.

His associates insisted that he accepted the President's decision to proceed in the manner which Kennedy announced on the night of Oct. 22 and therefore that he was not properly cast in the role of dissenter.

Crime Curbs Said Now Out-of-Hand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's law enforcement court and correctional officials are being called upon to handle too many problems which the home and community have allowed to get out of hand, the chief of the state's adult prison system said today.

Correction Commissioner Maury C. Koblenz, an outspoken advocate of the grass roots approach to crime prevention, said in a speech prepared for the 32nd annual meeting of the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association:

"There has been molded into the attitudes of our general population a change in our way of life which unfortunately includes a growing disregard for the rights of others."

Budget for 1963 Set at $500,995

Circleville Council has appropriated a total of $500,995 to provide for current expenses and other expenditures for 1963.

An ordinance approving this estimated budget was passed last night by the solons. The measure was presented following a long and detailed study by Councilman Dudley Carpenter's finance committee and City Auditor Marvane Turner.

The appropriations figure is matched against a total of $567,182.70 in anticipated receipts for 1963. However, required amendments and transfers can be expected during the new year.

The largest slice of the budget comes under the general fund. This appropriation amounted to $257,463, compared to expected revenues of $265,793.67.

THE STREET construction, maintenance and repair fund was set at $72,800. Estimated revenue is $76,043.32.

A total of $15,652 was appropriated for the State Highway improvement fund, while receipts were evaluated at $15,845.71. The Water Works fund appropriation was $106,670. Revenue was estimated at $169,000.

Relief Money Due Before Christmas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today he will again make an advance distribution of $5 million in poor relief money to Ohio counties about a week before Christmas.

He said this would make the fifth year his office has made an advance distribution in December to help brighten the holiday season for those on relief rolls.

The money comes from the 1.63 per cent excise tax paid by public utilities since 1933 for poor relief.

age fund were $48,410. The expected revenue is $49,500.

Carpenter said a sincere effort was made to distribute the appropriations to best meet the city's needs, and to allow Circleville to live within its budget.

The largest appropriations with in the general fund were for police and fire salaries, which is $300,000 each year. Police pay was estimated at $63,000 and firemen $40,000.

News Blackout Legitimate, Aide Claims

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Kennedy administration's news blackout during the Cuban crisis was "deliberate and premeditated" but legitimate information was not suppressed, says presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Salinger, speaking at a Pittsburgh journalism awards banquet Tuesday night, admitted tight security restrictions were placed on two phases of the crisis.

The first restriction—from the time the Soviet missiles were discovered in Cuba on Oct. 15 until the President's address to the nation Oct. 22—was "designed to permit the administration the freest hand in dealing with the missile menace and to give us the opportunity of the element of surprise," Salinger said.

He said the other restriction was to conceal the movement of troops and war equipment. "American lives were at stake should this government have been compelled to take further action," he added.

"Information has never been more accessible than it is today," he said. But he criticized the newspapers themselves for what he termed irresponsibility in their own ranks.

Nehru To View War Front in Northern India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru flew to northeast India today for talks with army commanders and speeches to the population recently threatened by the Chinese Communist invasion.

Nehru was accompanied on the two-day trip by Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan and several generals from army headquarters in New Delhi.

The party stopped first at Guwahati, in Assam.

They were expected to fly later to Tezpur, headquarters for the troops facing the Chinese Communists.

At Gauhati, 70 miles down the Brahmaputra River from Tezpur, Nehru told a public meeting the people of northeast India had stood up well to the Chinese threat.

He warned the country faced a long struggle against the Chinese aggression. He said the five-year plans for economic development effort.

While in Tezpur, Nehru will check on whether the Chinese are carrying out their promise to withdraw their invasion armies behind the McMahon Line frontier.

There has been no official announcement on the situation since Nehru said Monday the Chinese appeared to be thinning out their troops but were not withdrawing advance units.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

FASTER MAIL DELIVERY IS THE IDEA—The Post Office Department introduces Zip Code, a system for speeding delivery of out-of-town mail by use of coded numbers which indicate geographical area, city, and even the Post Office in the city. Zip Code is designed especially for large-volume mailers. Here, "Mr. Zip" illustrates the new plan. The first three digits identify one of 637 sectional centers (9, California; 8, Northern California; 7, Sacramento). The fourth and fifth digits specify either a smaller Post Office served by a sectional center (this one Zone 12 in Sacramento) or an office building receiving a large volume of mail.

Pope John Says Health Returning

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII appeared in his apartment window today and told a crowd of bishops and Romans in St. Peter's Square that he is getting well.

It was the 81-year-old pontiff's second public appearance since he was confined to bed eight days ago by a stomach ailment and anemia.

The Pope stood in his open window for almost seven minutes at noon to give his benediction to the crowd below—a substitute for his regular Wednesday general audience which his illness had forced him to cancel last week and again today. He had appeared in the window briefly last Sunday also, to bless the crowd and tell them "health is returning."

A majority in an election is more than half the total votes cast for all the candidates for that particular office. A plurality is an excess of votes over the number for the next opponent.

WAY BEHIND COLUMBUS—The Nina II, replica of one of Columbus' ships, lies becalmed some 800 miles east of Puerto Rico in this photo made from a Navy patrol plane. The Nina II hadn't been seen for 48 days and was feared lost, but all was well here. Columbus made the crossing in 40 days. The plane dropped a two-way radio. Up to then the only instruments carried were those used in the 15th century, and the crew had to ask its position.

The first restriction—from the time the Soviet missiles were discovered in Cuba on Oct. 15 until the President's address to the nation Oct. 22—was "designed to permit the administration the freest hand in dealing with the missile menace and to give us the opportunity of the element of surprise," Salinger said.

He said the other restriction was to conceal the movement of troops and war equipment.

"American lives were at stake should this government have been compelled to take further action," he added.

"Information has never been more accessible than it is today," he said. But he criticized the newspapers themselves for what he termed irresponsibility in their own ranks.

Nehru To View War Front in Northern India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru flew to northeast India today for talks with army commanders and speeches to the population recently threatened by the Chinese Communist invasion.

Nehru was accompanied on the two-day trip by Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan and several generals from army headquarters in New Delhi.

The party stopped first at Guwahati, in Assam.

They were expected to fly later to Tezpur, headquarters for the troops facing the Chinese Communists.

At Gauhati, 70 miles down the Brahmaputra River from Tezpur, Nehru told a public meeting the people of northeast India had stood up well to the Chinese threat.

He warned the country faced a long struggle against the Chinese aggression. He said the five-year plans for economic development effort.

While in Tezpur, Nehru will check on whether the Chinese are carrying out their promise to withdraw their invasion armies behind the McMahon Line frontier.

There has been no official announcement on the situation since Nehru said Monday the Chinese appeared to be thinning out their troops but were not withdrawing advance units.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

FASTER MAIL DELIVERY IS THE IDEA—The Post Office Department introduces Zip Code, a system for speeding delivery of out-of-town mail by use of coded numbers which indicate geographical area, city, and even the Post Office in the city. Zip Code is designed especially for large-volume mailers. Here, "Mr. Zip" illustrates the new plan. The first three digits identify one of 637 sectional centers (9, California; 8, Northern California; 7, Sacramento). The fourth and fifth digits specify either a smaller Post Office served by a sectional center (this one Zone 12 in Sacramento) or an office building receiving a large volume of mail.

Pope John Says Health Returning

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII appeared in his apartment window today and told a crowd of bishops and Romans in St. Peter's Square that he is getting well.

It was the 81-year-old pontiff's second public appearance since he was confined to bed eight days ago by a stomach ailment and anemia.

The Pope stood in his open window for almost seven minutes at noon to give his benediction to the crowd below—a substitute for his regular Wednesday general audience which his illness had forced him to cancel last week and again today. He had appeared in the window briefly last Sunday also, to bless the crowd and tell them "health is returning."

A majority in an election is more than half the total votes cast for all the candidates for that particular office. A plurality is an excess of votes over the number for the next opponent.

WAY BEHIND COLUMBUS—The Nina II, replica of one of Columbus' ships, lies becalmed some 800 miles east of Puerto Rico in this photo made from a Navy patrol plane. The Nina II hadn't been seen for 48 days and was feared lost, but all was well here. Columbus made the crossing in 40 days. The plane dropped a two-way radio. Up to then the only instruments carried were those used in the 15th century, and the crew had to ask its position.
